New Violence Flares As 16 Die In Oran

Algerian Peace
Talks Continue
Despite Rioting

By ANDREW BORIWIEC

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Algeria's macabre war within a war claimed the lives of 16 Moslems, including four women, under fire of French security forces in Oran Friday. Three died in a skirmish with police, and 13 in a barricaded warehouse.

Terrorist bombs killed a soldier at a French barracks in Algiers and destroyed a hotel that was used until recently by special government antiterrorist agents.

Violence deepened the gulf between the army and European settlers who dread a prospective peace agreement that would mean independence for Algeria.

Peace talks continued between French and Algerian rebel negotiators at Evian, France, however, and there was an ebb in the Tunisian frontier battle that has accompanied the talks.

The Oran action developed in a Moslem suburb. Security forces were shaking down the neighborhood in a house-to-house search for weapons after a series of attacks on Europeans.

Police said the first shots were fired by Moslem terrorists. The shots were reported aimed at officers investigating a fire in a Moslem store. The police fired back, killing three Moslems, and radioed for assistance.

Troops and additional police rushed to the area.

Dozens of Moslems streamed to a warehouse and, tightly packed, barricaded themselves within it. Troops drew fire when they approached, police said, and responded with bullets that killed 13. There was no announcement of security force casualties.

The Algiers Radja Hotel, which was used as a hideout by special government agents called "the bearded ones," was destroyed by a powerful explosion. Police said no one was injured, that the building had been vacated after a number of rightist European Secret Army Organization attacks on it in the past with bazookas and machine guns. There were rumors, unconfirmed, that the special agents have been called back to France.

Bombing of the Orleans barracks in Algiers infuriated its garrison. A soldier was killed and two were wounded when a big plastic bomb, a favorite weapon of the secret army, blasted off the front of a latrine. Military sources suspected it was planted by some civilian employee of the barracks. French authorities said it is possible that all the settlers—the dominant 10 per cent of Algeria's 10 million people—may be banned from entering French installations in Algiers. The settlers fear a cease-fire will mean North Africans will take over in an independent Algeria.

Secrecy was maintained at the French-Algerian talks at Evian, but the relaxed joviality of the chief of France's delegation, Louis Joxe, at a reception Friday night seemed to indicate they were going well.

Concert Violinist Walks Out On Two Performances

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Internationally-known concert violinist Nathan Milstein walked out Friday on two scheduled performances with the Pittsburgh Symphony because of "artistic differences" with conductor William Steinberg.

During a rehearsal earlier Friday, the music came to a faltering halt in the middle of the third movement of Beethoven's Violin Concerto.

A symphony spokesman said Milstein had been critical of and made comments directly to several members of the orchestra "thereby invading an area which

New Honors For Glenn

Khrushchev Denies Food Crisis

NYC-PRR Ask Permission For Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads formally asked permission Friday to merge and form the nation's largest rail system—a proposal certain to stir a prolonged and bitter struggle.

The two railroads filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission their petition for approval of the merger plans first announced by the companies' executives last Jan. 12. Stockholders of the two corporations will be asked to approve the merger in separate meetings May 8.

If approved, the merger would produce a system with 20,073 miles of track, nearly 10 per cent of the national total, and with more than $5.3 billion in assets. The companies now have about 121,000 employees, most of them represented by unions which are expected to oppose the merger strenuously.

There was no indication when the ICC will begin hearings. Usually it is several months after the filing of the petition. And a final decision is unlikely short of a year or more.

In addition to the assured opposition of the unions, the merger probably will be fought before the

Guard To Man 16 Nike Bases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Guard will take over round-the-clock operation of 16 Nike Hercules air defense batteries in five states during the next 16 months, it was announced Friday.

The Maryland National Guard is scheduled to be the first in the continental United States to take over a Hercules battery. Others, in order, are Ohio, Michigan, New York and California.

The Maryland Guard will man batteries in the Washington-Baltimore area. The others are in Cleveland, Detroit, New York, Buffalo-Niagara Falls, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Guardmen already operate six Hercules batteries in Hawaii.

Tells Committee Farm Outlook Is Improved

By REINHOLD G. ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who said Monday the Soviet Union needs more food for its 200 million people, now denied that Soviet agriculture is in a state of crisis. He said the outlook is good.

Khrushchev issued the denial Friday in the concluding speech at a special meeting of the Communist party Central Committee, called to consider farm issues.

The speech was delivered behind closed doors, but the official news agency Tass released a summary which reported:

"The secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist party of the Soviet Union said that, contrary to the contention of certain bourgeois press organs, there was no crisis in Soviet agriculture."

In opening the meeting of the Central Committee Monday, Khrushchev urged immediate steps to increase production of food, especially meat.

"The fact is," he said, "that we simply do not have enough."

He told of receiving complaints from cities that there is little meat for sale in shops, as well as butter.

As reported by Radio Moscow, he proposed overhauling the agricultural system, including abolition of the crop rotation practice that keeps large areas of Soviet soil under grass.

The remarks got big headlines in the Western press, a fact which apparently annoyed Khrushchev.

The party meeting was called to discuss the question of agriculture not because little has been done in this sphere, he said, but because more can and must be done.

Khrushchev praised the contributions of Soviet scientists to agriculture. But he criticized some specialists, saying they were out of touch with life.

Kennedy Promotes Senator Goldwater

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has nominated Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., for promotion to the rank of major general in the Air Force reserves, the White House said Friday.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said the nomination was sent to the Senate about three days ago along with hundreds of other military promotions. The Arizona senator now holds the reserve rank of brigadier general.

Goldwater told a reporter he had been advised of the President's action by the Pentagon. He has 32 years of reserve service and about 7,500 hours of flying time.

"After 32 years in the reserve, I'm kind of glad to see it," the senator said of his promotion.

Goldwater said he had been advised of the President's action by the Pentagon. He has 32 years of reserve service and about 7,500 hours of flying time.

Following the exchange, Milstein stormed off the stage and later cancelled out of a scheduled performance Friday at the Syria Mosque and one scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

It was noted that Milstein cancelled out of a scheduled appearance with the local symphony last year when he learned Steinberg would not be available to conduct.

U. S. Fliers On Combat In So. Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Military men are flying on combat missions in South Viet Nam to train Vietnamese crews, an authorized U.S. source said Friday.

Sources in Saigon said the Americans were going along on strafing and bombing runs purely as a stopgap measure.

The State Department, in a formal statement, said U.S. Air Force pilots "are working with the Vietnamese, the objective being the training of their pilots and other air force personnel." This statement made no mention of combat missions.

But the Washington source said Americans had gone along on some air strikes against Communist guerrillas in Viet Nam. He said this would be discontinued after the Vietnamese crews became proficient in their work.

He was emphatic that the U.S. personnel had flown none of the missions alone—that they were merely accompanying Vietnamese in training.

The source turned aside questions as to whether Americans were in command of the flights. A dispatch from Viet Nam said they were.

No Punishment For Guardsmen Who Demonstrated

FORT POLK, La. (UPI) — The commander of Fort Polk said in a policy statement Friday that only a small part of his National Guard troops have engaged in "I want to go home" demonstrations and he is not going to punish them.

So far, the commander, Maj. Gen. Harley B. West of Dallas, said, they have done nothing to be disciplined for. But West noted:

"It is regrettable that so few have caused Fort Polk and the units training here to receive such adverse publicity."

West told his troops that they will stay on active duty until the Berlin crisis eases or two new regular Army divisions are ready for combat.

Elizabeth Taylor, Fisher Marriage Expected To End

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher will end their marriage because "she has fallen madly in love with Richard Burton," the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner reported Friday.

The newspaper said Miss Taylor's manager, Kurt Frings, had been in Rome all week to achieve an agreement with the couple.

Burton, the British actor who is co-starring with Miss Taylor in "Cleopatra," was cited as the reason for the split. The Herald-Examiner said Fisher had left Rome when he discovered the alleged romance and returned only when his wife was rushed to a

Emergency Reservists Pool Planned

Pentagon Acts
To Form Ready
Call-Up List

By JERRY T. BAULCH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon acted Friday to set up a pool of Reservists tagged for quick emergency call.

The purpose is to help reduce in the future hardships and difficulties such as beset men mobilized for the Berlin crisis.

Men so tagged would be used to fill understrength Reserve or National Guard units summoned to active service in any emergencies.

Just how many men would be placed in the pool is impossible to say now, a Defense Department spokesman said, since each service is working out its own program.

The project is an outgrowth of complaints registered when 155,000 Reservists and National Guardsmen were summoned to duty last fall. Some of them said they were called up unfairly because of family responsibilities, critical jobs, and other reasons they considered entitled them to deferment.

Most of the complaints came from among the 28,000 Army Ready Reservists who were summoned to fill below-strength units. The Army said part of this resulted because the Reservists did not keep the service informed of changes in their family and job status.

The pool will be set up along lines laid down by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in telling a congressional committee Jan. 19 that the plan was being considered.

Preferably, he said, the pool would consist of men who had only six months of full-time training before entering the Reserve.

"These persons," he said, "would be carefully screened to eliminate all those not available for immediate recall for reasons of occupation, family status, etc."

The Defense Department said

Police Clash With Rioters

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Police using water hoses clashed with demonstrators in front of the Lima branch of the First National City Bank of New York here Friday.

One of the demonstrators declared they were protesting because they "beat up one of our men in the bank."

The National Federation of Bank Employees had called on the government earlier to expel the American manager and two other U.S. officers of the bank.

It accused the three—manager John P. Murphy of Lancaster, Pa.; the assistant manager, Paul Shrods of Beaver, Pa.; and the assistant accountant, John O'Rourke of Astoria, L.I., N.Y., of attacking Jorge Zapata Cuadra, the federation's secretary of affairs concerning control and discipline.

Police used water hoses to clear the demonstrators from the country Thursday after declaring she was "no longer required for questioning."

Miss Thring's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Thring of Arlington, Va., stepped forward to greet her as she passed through customs.

Sinatra Suffers From Laryngitis

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Singer Frank Sinatra remained in Palm Springs Friday where he is recovering from an attack of laryngitis.

Sinatra came to this desert resort Wednesday "to get his voice back."

The attack forced the Hollywood entertainer to cancel a scheduled appearance in Miami Beach at a dinner honoring Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla.

29 W. German Miners Killed In Gas Explosion

APPOINTED — Maj. Gen. Marshall S. Carter has been named by President Kennedy as Deputy Director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Gen. Carter, now commander of the Army Air Defense School at Ft. Bliss, Tex., replaces Air Force Gen. Charles P. Cabell, who resigned from the number two CIA job.

Miss Thring Returns Home From Congo

NEW YORK (UPI) — Blonde Elizabeth Thring, eyewitness to the mysterious bedroom murder of a U.S. military attaché in the Congo, came home Friday with a white poodle dog in her arms and was promptly whisked into seclusion by her parents.

Wearing dark glasses and looking haggard after her African ordeal, the 22-year-old private secretary had a terse "Sorry, no comment," for reporters.

"I don't want to talk to anybody," she said. "My parents are waiting for me."

Newsmen were barred from going out on the field to meet the jetliner that brought Miss Thring from Leopoldville, where she had spent several days in prison for "questioning" in the Valentine's Day slaying of Lt. Col. Hulén D. Stogner.

Stogner, who left a widow and six children in El Paso, Tex., was killed by a shot through the neck as he lay in bed in his Leopoldville bungalow last Feb. 14.

Miss Thring told investigators she had been sitting in a chair in the bedroom when the shot was fired by an unknown assailant.

Miss Thring had gone to the Congo last August soon after the colonel was assigned to his attaché post in the troubled African country. U. S. Embassy spokesmen identified her as Stogner's private secretary and said she was not on a U.S. government payroll.

Congolese officials cleared her departure from the country Thursday after declaring she was "no longer required for questioning."

Miss Thring's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Thring of Arlington, Va., stepped forward to greet her as she passed through customs.

BLE To Distribute Strike Ballots

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers (BLE) will distribute strike ballots to its members on almost all U. S. railroads the middle of next week.

Roy E. Davidson, grand chief engineer of the BLE, announced the decision Friday at the close of a two-day meeting of the brotherhood's 100 general chairmen. The men are the top officers of the BLE on individual railroads.

The strike vote would authorize Davidson to call a strike if any railroad attempted to put into effect arbitrarily recommendations of the presidential railroad commission.

Gen. Upham Named 2nd Army Leader

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy announced Thursday the appointment of Maj. Gen. John S. Upham Jr. as commanding general of the 2nd Army with headquarters at Ft. George G. Meade, Md.

At the same time, the President nominated Gen. Upham for promotion to lieutenant general.

Methane Blast Is Blamed For Coal Disaster

By JOHN A. CALLCOTT

HEESSEN, Germany (UPI) — Dynamite used by the night shift to open a new shaft in the Sachsen coal mine touched off an explosion of methane gas 3,795 feet below the surface Friday, killing 29 miners.

It was West Germany's second coal mine disaster in five weeks. An explosion in a coal mine at Voelkingen in the Saarland killed 298 miners last month.

The Mine Administration said 28 miners were killed instantly either from the flame from the explosion, which shot through the mine like a tornado, or from the concussion in the narrow confines of the galleries. Nine were injured.

One of the injured men died after reaching a hospital and two were reported in serious condition. The other six were injured only slightly and were allowed to return home.

The explosion came just 25 minutes before the night shift was to leave work at 6 a.m. A total of 756 miners were on the night shift but only 169 were working in the fourth level, one of Germany's deepest, when the explosion occurred.

The Sachsen mine in Heessen is situated at the northern outskirts of the town of Hamm in Westphalia. The accident was the second in the pit's 50-year history. The first occurred in 1944 when 169 miners were killed, 113 of them Russian prisoners of war. The Nazis never made that disaster public.

15 Americans Die In Crash Of Transport

EVREUX, France (UPI) — Fifteen American officers and men were killed Thursday night when a U. S. Air Force C-130 transport crashed in a Normandy wood while practicing a paratroop drop, the Air Force announced Friday night.

The American Hercules plane was one of three involved in fatal crashes in France, Italy and Turkey which killed 31 persons. In addition a Dutch Royal Air Force jet was reported missing over the North Sea with one person aboard.

A dispatch from Adana, Turkey, said a Turkish Airlines Fokker airliner crashed Thursday in the Pazarlik Mountains, killing all 11 persons aboard. Among the victims were two Americans identified only as "Rodger" and "Dumad."

A report from Avezzano, Italy, said a four-engine DC6B freighter plane crashed on Mount Vellino near Avezzano late Thursday night, killing all five Italian crew members aboard. Rescue crews reached the wreckage Friday.

The U. S. Air Force base at Evreux, 50 miles west of Paris, said the C-130 carried five Air Force officers, eight airmen and two Army enlisted men on a paratroop-drop exercise near the Normandy invasion beaches.

The plane, of the 322nd Air Division, crashed near the Normandy town of Alencon in the Ecouves Forest. It apparently struck the high wooded area in dense fog. It had reported engine trouble before the crash.

Titan II Rocket Passes Tests

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Titan II, America's most powerful new military rocket, underwent a successful captive firing Friday, opening the way for the first flight test in about a week.

Massive steel arms held the 102-foot rocket firmly on the launching pad as the first stage built up full thrust of 430,000 pounds during a 20-second firing. An Air Force official reported the test was a success.

No flame burst from the base of the rocket, only an eerie glow. Revolutionary new liquid fuels used in Titan II do not burn, but instead send intensely hot columns of clear gases flowing out of the combustion chamber.

These fuels are designed for indefinite storage in the missile's tanks, giving Titan II the instant retaliation feature of solid-fuel rockets.

Titan II will be capable of delivering much larger hydrogen warheads to targets halfway around the world. The test program is expected to last a year.

Editor Communist Paper Is Jailed For Contempt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The editor-in-chief of the Communist newspaper, "The Worker," was sentenced to six months in jail Friday for contempt of court after he refused to answer grand jury questions as ordered by a federal judge.

James E. Jackson, 47, of Brooklyn was found guilty by District Judge Alexander Holtzoff who had told him to answer the questions under a promise of immunity from prosecution. His sentence is to begin Monday.

Jackson is the second Communist party official to be sentenced for contempt in the grand jury inquiry.

First Lady's Goodwill Tour Semi-Official

Accompanied By Sister Takes Jet
Plane To Rome

By GEORGE HARRISON

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jacqueline Kennedy, taking along several trunkloads of new clothes, left Friday night on a 15,000-mile semi-official trip as America's ambassador of goodwill to the teeming millions of India and Pakistan.

The smiling 32-year-old First Lady and her traveling party flew to Rome aboard a commercial jet plane.

The plane took off at 8:16 p.m. EST. About 350 spectators stood behind police barricades to watch Mrs. Kennedy, wearing a leopard skin coat and accompanied by her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, walk from a limousine to the plane.

Inside the plane, eight seats in the first class section had been removed to make room for sleeping berths for Mrs. Kennedy and her sister.

Aside from an hour-and-a-half shopping trip to a swank Park Avenue dress shop Friday morning, Mrs. Kennedy spent her day in a midtown Manhattan hotel.

As she left the hotel Friday night for International Airport, a girl, Nancy Abraham, 14, New York, dashed past Secret Service men in the lobby to present Mrs. Kennedy with three red and white carnations.

Mrs. Kennedy smiled and took them. "My aren't you sweet," she said "Thank you."

Friday morning, Mrs. Kennedy rubbed shoulders with throngs of every-day Manhattan shoppers on her trip to the dress shop.

"The First Lady just looked at some clothes . . . she didn't buy anything," said one of the owners of the shop, Chez Ninon, Mrs. Nona Park, a Georgia native.

But Mrs. Park's denial was tempered with: "and if she had, I couldn't tell you about it. Any news of her wardrobe must come from the White House. That is the way we always have worked it."

Mrs. Kennedy was accompanied by her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, a friend Mrs. William Alyn, a maid, a White House news secretary and Secret Service agents on her trip to Rome by commercial jet.

Jackson is the second Communist party official to be sentenced for contempt in the grand jury inquiry.

The grand jury is investigating the refusal of individual U.S. Communist party members to register with the Justice Department as required by law.

U.S. Atty. David C. Acheson said the purpose of some 40 questions asked Jackson is to determine if "The Worker" should be labeled a Communist publication. Among the questions asked Jackson:

—Did The Worker receive any funds from the Soviet Union in 1960 and 1961?

—Does the party underwrite the newspaper's yearly deficits?

—Does the party have anything to do with the publishing and editing of "The Worker," and does its editorial policy reflect the party line?

New Storm Threatens Maryland Coast Area

Weather Bureau Warns More High Tides Imminent

Damage In State In Millions;
Guard Called To Halt Looting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another storm system churning across Maryland brought new threats of high tides, heavy winds and flooding Friday similar to those that ravaged Ocean City and other Maryland coastal areas earlier this week.

SENTENCED — James E. Jackson, editor of The Worker, was sentenced to six months in jail Friday for contempt of court after refusing to answer questions before a grand jury investigating U.S. Communist party activities. Sentence was pronounced in U.S. district court in Washington. (AP Photofax)

The Weather Bureau warned the new low pressure system would create tides three to four feet above average. Easterly winds Friday night and Saturday were expected to delay the return to normal.

Meanwhile, President Kennedy designated Ocean City and vicinity a disaster area, and the Maryland General Assembly rushed through a bill to provide relief from storm-ravaged portions of Worcester County.

The bill would appropriate $1 million to be used by the Board of Public Works for the repair of damage resulting from natural disaster.

At Ocean City, off limits to all but authorities and residents, a scene of devastation and damage in the millions of dollars greeted workmen beginning clean-up operations.

More National Guard troops were sent to the resort town Friday as looting of damaged properties rose to alarming proportions. Two persons arrested at a beach front gift shop were taken to nearby Berlin for questioning.

State Police allowed only residents to enter the storm-torn city. All persons leaving the town were searched by National Guardsmen.

Mayor Hugh Cropper announced Friday the town would be closed to the public "probably until the middle of next week."

He said property owners who are not permanent residents would be issued passes to enter Ocean City during the day, but they must be out by dark.

The first pieces of state highway equipment arrived in Ocean City and immediately began clearing sand from Baltimore Avenue and dumping it on the beach.

Road crews expect to open Ocean Highway, connecting Ocean City with Delaware resorts to the north, by Saturday.

Mayor Cropper said he expected to have estimates soon on the amount of damage to the resort. A figure of $4.5 million by an official of the Small Business Administration was "ridiculously low," he said.

In Washington, Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., announced Friday he is taking preliminary steps to provide for a thorough survey of the storm-battered Atlantic beaches by Army Engineers.

In Philadelphia, the Region 2 office of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency notified governors of Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and Virginia that it was ready to move at high speed with assistance to the storm-damaged states and communities — for the duration of the emergency.

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman also designated 17 flood-damaged East Coast counties as emergency areas where farmers may obtain emergency credit from the Farmers Home Administration.

The counties included Dorchester, Queen Anne's, Somerset, St. Mary's and Worcester in Maryland; Northumberland in Virginia; and Kent and Sussex in Delaware.

Gromyko Assigned

Clean-Up Task Begins After Storm

Residents at Chincoteague, Va., begin the task of cleaning up debris and seaweed in their storm-slash community after the area had been inundated by high tides which washed these fishing boats into the middle of the town's main street. Homes and businesses on the island were badly battered in the storm. Water receded in some stricken areas yesterday, leaving heavy damage in wake of the record coastal storm. (AP Photofax)

Md. GOP Fails Again To Woo Gov. McKeldin

BALTIMORE (AP)—A renewed effort to have Theodore R. McKeldin seek the Republican gubernatorial nomination failed Friday when four other candidates refused to withdraw in favor of the former governor.

D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and other GOP leaders talked with the candidates for governor and U.S. senator for more than two hours in a closed meeting in a Baltimore hotel.

Afterward, Rinehart reported the four gubernatorial hopefuls "refused to withdraw for any other candidate who has not already filed."

"In other words," he said, "they refused to withdraw in favor of McKeldin."

During a news conference on a Baltimore television station Thursday night, McKeldin said there still was a remote possibility he would run.

He said his candidacy hinged on two conditions: Withdrawal of the four candidates already in the Republican primary race, and the promise of sufficient funds to finance the campaign.

The candidates who met with Rinehart Friday are David Scull, Silver Spring businessman; Frank Small Jr., former congressman from Maryland's 5th District; Mrs. Carla M. E. Balentine, Montgomery County housewife; and Joseph L. Pavlock.

Rinehart emphasized that the candidates had not been asked to withdraw in favor of McKeldin, who served two terms as governor from 1951-59. The central committee chairman said the candidates raised the question during the meeting and stated flatly they would not withdraw.

If the four had decided to quit the race, the central committee could have named a gubernatorial candidate for the party.

McKeldin had considered entering the race for governor, but announced shortly before the filing deadline last Monday that he would seek the party's nomination.

He said during the news conference the lack of campaign funds was a major factor in his decision.

Misty Is Safe At Chincoteague

CHINCOTEAGUE, Va. (AP)—All is well with Misty. The famous Chincoteague pony is safe in the kitchen of its owner.

Flood waters swirl around the home of Ralph Beebe on the storm-devastated island off Virginia's Eastern Shore and Beebe said Misty will remain in the kitchen until the record tides subside.

Eastern Shore officials said they have been bombarded with calls from across the nation, many of them from children, since the storm struck the island three days ago.

Misty was featured in a children's book and later starred in a movie based on the book.

NYC-PRR Ask

(Continued From Page 1) ICC by some shippers fearing retrogression in service and perhaps by some railroads, fearing stiffer competition. It will be vigorously supported by the American Association of Railroads and other industry spokesmen.

The Justice Department has not yet indicated its position but it is actively opposing one merger, that between the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard Air Line in the Southeast, on antitrust grounds.

The two railroads told the ICC the merger would produce a saving of $75 million annually and would result in improved service to the public and put the lines in a better competitive position in relation to other forms of transport.

The petition took note of the problem of lost jobs—so painful to the unions—saying, "Appropriate terms and conditions for protection of employees will be acceptable to the applicants."

Under the merger agreement, the new company would be known as the Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Co., and would be domiciled in Pennsylvania.

The present holders of the 13-plus million shares of Pennsylvania common stock would receive share-for-share in the new corporation. Holders of the 6.5-plus million shares of Central common would receive one share of the new stock for each 1.3 shares of Central PRR stock Friday at 17 1/4, NYC at 18 1/4.

Flu Epidemic Is On Decline

ATLANTA (UPI)—Epidemic influenza is on the decline throughout the United States with the lone exception of Wyoming, the federal Communicable Disease Center (CDC) here reported Friday.

CDC said two new outbreaks of flu-like disease have broken out in the northeast part of Wyoming.

The number of deaths due to pneumonia and influenza in 108 cities reached its highest level of the year this past week, CDC said. New England and Middle Atlantic states reported figures in the excess of expected levels for the first time this year.

Cuba's Rulers Form Red Type Directorate

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba's Marxist-Leninist rulers appear to have embraced collective leadership by announcing a 25-member directorate without a chairman, president or vice president.

The directorate is composed of the leadership of the Integrated Revolutionary Organization—ORI, pilot organization for Cuba's single proletarian-style party which is to be formed.

Heading the list are Prime Minister Fidel Castro, followed in order by his brother Raul, the armed forces chief, Argentine-born Industries Minister Ernesto Guevara; and President Osvaldo Dorticos.

On the list are at least 10 Communists.

Instead of being ranked by some title such as president or vice president all 25 are known as "national leaders." Presumably each will have one vote.

An announcement appearing in all morning papers Friday said these 25—including one woman—were the "best men and women of the Cuban nation."

This type of organization resembled the collective type of leadership adopted by the Soviet Communist party after the death of Josef Stalin.

Castro, himself a proclaimed Marxist-Leninist "until I die," announced last July 26 that all Cuban organizations—military, political, labor and others—would be merged into the single all-powerful party. It has taken the intervening months to whip together the pilot organization.

A communique said the final shapetook place at a meeting Thursday.

By the time she left the shop, a crowd of about 150 people had gathered outside to try and catch a glimpse of the smiling First Lady.

On her first semi-official good-will visit without the President, Mrs. Kennedy was to call on Italian President Giovanni Gronchi and have a Sunday audience with Pope John XXIII. She also will call on Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, Vatican secretary of state who is a family friend from his days as apostolic delegate in Washington.

Cooperation Of AP Newspapers Lauded At Press Conclave

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gilbert P. Smith, managing editor of the Utica, N. Y., Observer-Dispatch, praised Friday the cooperative efforts of newspapers working through the Associated Press.

Addressing the Chesapeake AP meeting, held in conjunction with the meeting of the Maryland-Delaware Press Association, Smith said:

"It seems to me that one of the great strengths in American journalism today is the cooperative effort through The AP."

He said no newspaper needs to stand alone in fights against corruption or for freedom of information because papers can call on other members of The AP for support and assistance.

Members of the Chesapeake AP also heard reports from Max Fullerton, chief of bureau of The AP in Baltimore, and Burt Foster, newsphoto editor of The AP in Washington.

Members of the Maryland-Delaware group toured the Naval Academy and attended a photography workshop earlier in the day. A. Aubrey Bodine of the Baltimore Sunpapers spoke at the workshop.

The speaker at the dinner Friday night was Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense and former Newark, N. J., newspaperman.

The three-day meeting of the Association ends Saturday. A meeting of the new Maryland chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, also is planned Saturday.

Members of the press association elected E. Ralph Hostetter of the Cecil Whig president. They named George Rash of the Hagerstown Mail vice-president for dailies, and Elmer Jackson III vice-president for weeklies. Jackson is with the Maryland Gazette in Glen Burnie.

Dan M. Tabler of the Easton Star-Democrat was elected secretary and George Delaplaine Jr. of the News and Post at Frederick was elected treasurer.

Members of the Chesapeake AP named Herman Stevens of the Cambridge Banner president, to succeed Philip S. Heister of the Baltimore Evening Sun. Frank Schurz Jr. of Hagerstown was elected vice-president and Fullerton was re-elected secretary.

Canadians Mum On Reports Of DopeSmuggling

OTTAWA (UPI)—The government clamped official silence Friday on published reports several Canadian members of the Indo-China Truce Commission have been recalled for alleged narcotics smuggling.

External Affairs Minister Howard Green, questioned about the purported diplomatic scandal in a parliament session Thursday night, acknowledged that some Canadians had been ordered home from Indo-China for "violating the laws of our country." But he refused to specify what violations were involved.

"Unfortunately, the matter very seriously affects those Canadians still serving in Indo-China and for that reason I do not think it is in the public interest that I should go any further," he said.

A Socialist member of parliament, Erhart Regier, said he had private information that the recalled truce team members had been engaged in a drug traffic scheme that netted them as much as $1,000 a week.

He said the narcotics had been smuggled into "certain" Canadian cities.

No names were mentioned and it was not known which Indo-Chinese country was involved. Canada maintains representation with India and Poland on three truce commissions operating in Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam.

The commissions were established by international accord following the end of French political rule in Indo-China in 1954. Team members are drawn from Canada's army and foreign service and assigned to the posts for one year.

ALBERT'S Big Circle Market

Local Firm Builds Large Test Device

The Allegany Instrument Company, manufacturers of test systems and electro-mechanical components for rocket and missile development, shipped early this week a 23-ton multi component thrust measuring system to the Hercules Powder Company, Baccus, Utah.

Constructed of I-beam and steel plate, this 28 feet long x 15 feet wide x 9 1/2 feet high system will be employed to test various rocket motors being developed by Hercules under government contract.

The new Alenco test system consists of a rocket motor thrust stand, load cells, suspension hardware, and two dead weight amplification beam calibrators. The thrust stand is designed to rigidly support a rocket motor during a static test firing while the load cells are designed to measure accurately the thrust, weight, and side forces developed during the test.

Prior to firing, the calibrators apply known forces to the load cells which are equal to those expected to be encountered during the actual test.

Since load cells simply convert force, thrust, etc., into electrical outputs, this pre-fire calibration permits the test engineer to determine the thrust of the rocket being tested from the equivalent electrical output provided by the load cell.

The entire system, including the electronic system necessary to control calibration, was shipped via the B&O Railroad.

County Plans Meetings On Budgets

The first budget hearings of $171,140.28 and the federal government, $336,264.20. Needy blind persons will receive a total of $12,848.23 with the county providing $4,496.90 and the federal government the balance.

The board will go over the budgets of the state's attorney's office and the three county institutions, Sylvan Retreat, County Infirmary and County Home with the heads of those departments.

A number of budgets received approval of the board yesterday when presented.

The budget of the Allegany County Welfare Department calls for a county outlay of $180,700, which is $42,000 below the amount in the current budget. This resulted from legislation which Gov. Taves sponsored providing that the counties allocate no more than 10 per cent of its assessable basis towards welfare costs. The state picks up any amount necessary over this limitation.

The state will provide $608,677.20 and the federal government $729,859.02 of the grand total of $1,338,536.22 which is listed in the budget.

For old age assistance the total needed will be $338,755.92 with the county providing $57,259.32, the state, $59,337.82 and the federal government, $22,158.76. Aid to dependent children will cost $557,404.96 with the county's share, $18,000, the state share,

The County Extension Service budget will total $11,513 with the county paying part of the cost and the rest by the state. The budget for the Allegany County Sanitary Commission will be $6,600.

M. H. Sowers, auditor of the upper Potomac River Commission, submitted a budget of $26,454. The commission operates the Savage River Dam.

The budget for the county commission's office will be $11,270 and expenses of the office will be $6,415.

Ann Landers . . . Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Yesterday my best friend was kicked out of class for yelling out some swear words. She was innocent. It was the girl next to her who did the cursing.

Later that day I asked my friend why she took the blame. She said "Because my standing in the class is good and the other girl's is bad. She probably would have been thrown out of school. I knew I'd get off easier."

Several kids know about this. In fact, almost everyone knows but the teacher. Don't you think the girl should clear her name, now that the teacher's temper has cooled off and things are back to normal?—TRUE FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: I agree that her name should be cleared—but she should not attempt to clear it herself. One of her "true friends" should go to the teacher, in her behalf. The name of the guilty party, of course, need not be mentioned.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have the same argument three times a week. Our three pre-school-age children keep me exhausted.

When I ask him to take the kids somewhere so I can have a little peace and quiet he suddenly remembers he promised to bowl with the boys, or be a fifth at poker. When I'm baking or sewing and ask him to watch them for an hour he falls asleep in front of the TV and the kids take the house apart.

I'd love to join a woman's club or have my hair set downtown once in a while. Being able to shop without three kids hanging on me would be pure heaven.

I take tranquilizing pills on doctor's orders. I cry over nothing. When I try to talk to him he tells me his mother raised ten kids without tranquilizers and she didn't have to join clubs or get her hair set downtown. Please help me. I am—NERVOUS AND TIRED

DEAR N AND T: So his mother raised ten kids without tranquilizers.

Color Can Change Your Contours

When you set out upon your Easter shopping this month, make each fitting an experiment to learn how color can improve your silhouette. It can, you know, just as deftly as cut and fabric.

You can still go all out for Fashion's favorite spring colors. Just be a little choosier about the color tones . . . and your color combinations. If you pay just a little closer attention to such details in the USE of color, you can achieve new and stunning effects with the same figure you have now.

Here are some good guides to follow:

1. If you want to appear shorter than you are, stick to subdued tones. See how a combination of TWO colors seems to cut your height. If you would also like to look slimmer, try dark colors or small prints and patterns in dull-finish fabrics. Better not wear anything too bold and shiny.
2. If you'd like to add a few inches, by color camouflage, select light colors. Pastels are excellent, especially when a couple of them are used for contrast. Light colored skirts make you longer, along with wide-wide belts. A light-colored hat matching a light-colored costume will stretch the color-line, in the eyes of observers. If you remember to stand tall as well, you certainly will appear more willowy.
3. To put the hex on that hippy look, top your dark skirt with a lighter-toned jacket. It helps to match your hat and blouse or your bag and hat.
4. To disguise how thin you are, brighten your colors. Try the reds, yellows, gay greens. Touches of white or pink near your face will tend to make a too-slender bone structure seem rounder, fuller, more glowing.
5. The way to outweigh "football shoulders" is to call color-attention away from them — by wearing dark jackets, matching the handbag and shoes.

Women's Sport Club Discusses Changes

Organizing a bowling league, revision of the bylaws and changing the club name were discussed by members of the Women's Sport Club at the dinner meeting Thursday evening at the Cumberland Country Club. A thank you letter was sent to the Cumberland Electric Company for installation of a colored TV set at the last meeting so members could see the White House tour. A routine report was given by Mrs. Martha McNeil.

The April 6 meeting also will be at the country club, but the day changed from the usual one. Mrs. Loretta Cassen is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Eleanor Lavin and Mrs. Elizabeth Creagan. Mrs. Madelyn Rizer presided and introduced the guests. They were Miss Mary Marshall, Mrs. Juanita Hartman, Mrs. Susan Kelley, Mrs. Mary Lou Dawson, Mrs. Catherine Yarnall and Mrs. Karen Durrett.

The St. Patrick's Day theme was carried out in the decorations, with bransynifters with tube roses and fern; green talleis in the form of shamrocks; and a centerpiece of white and green carnations and snapdragons. Favors were coasters, matches and samples of cigarettes. The same motif was repeated in the prizes. Green French poodles were awarded to Mrs. Esther Stevens, and Mrs. Bessie Hanks. Mrs. Susan Kelley received the centerpiece and Mrs. Emma Crawford and Miss Ann Lottig, metal boxes of candy.

Winners at bridge were Mrs. Mary Weimer, Mrs. Lillian Klavuhn and Mrs. Mary Miller; and at 500, Miss Adelaide Hession, Mrs. Esther Stevens and Mrs. Frances Aman. First place awards were green place mats and napkins; second, green bon bon dishes; and third, kitchen terry towels. Mrs. Martha Gerkins was chairman for the evening, assisted by Mrs. Mabel Pierce and Mrs. Marian Hubbs.

NEWS NOTE

WARNING: U.S. INVADED

More than 4¼ million invade United States in past year!

Now scattered throughout every city, village, and farm. Totally dependent on others for every need.

None can read, write, or speak our language. They know nothing about any religion.

Similar invasion expected this year — and next. Immediate action imperative!

PARENTS, you are helping feed, clothe, and shelter these newcomers—the 4¼ million babies born last year. You will teach them to walk and talk, and how to live. Teach them, too, about God... give them a faith to live by.

Trained workers at your church are ready to help. The future of your country — and your children — rests with you.

Join hands with your church to give them a faith, and a future — TODAY.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — Carl Foreman telephoned to say aurevoir before he took off for Europe, and to give me an interesting piece of news.

He's just signed Sophia Loren and Simone Signoret for "The Victors," his next motion picture. His last movie "Guns of Navarone" picked up seven Oscar nominations. Carl said he's going to get three more actresses of comparable importance in their own country—a Belgian lass, a Polish girl and a German fraulein — before he chooses six male co-stars.

He is really doubling in brass for "The Victors." He's adapted the story, and he'll direct and produce it for Columbia and his own company.

One good thing after another is coming Marilyn Maxwell's way —the latest being she's signed to co-star with Bob Hope and Lucille Ball in "Critic's Choice" on the Warner lot. Marilyn received word that she was set for the movie between shows at the Latin Quarter in New York where she's had a very successful engagement. Remember I told you that boyfriend Rock Hudson flew in to surprise her opening night.

The movie means that Marilyn will be back in Hollywood with Rock sooner than she expected. The picture starts the 10th of April with Frank Rosenberg producing and Don Weis directing.

There are a number of interpretations put on George C. Scott's refusal to accept the Oscar nomination for "The Hustler," although he himself says that he doesn't want to participate in all the heat and ballyhoo turned on in these instances. Some feel another reason for his decision is that he was nominated before for "Anatomy of a Murder," but didn't win it.

Charlie Chaplin is the only other actor I know who declined a nomination — but Chaplin's a non-conformist. When he refused "The New York Film Critics' Award for 'The Dictator,'" it seems to me no matter how an actor feels personally, it's the greatest discourtesy to his fellow actors to refuse an honor as important as this.

The replacement of Michael Wilding by John Lund in "If a Man Answers" at U-I, wasn't because Michael is not a fine actor, but he's been so mentally disturbed he could hardly remember his lines.

Susan Nell, his wife, filed suit for divorce in London the day he started the movie, naming another woman. Susan, who has been many times married, and was once the wife of Walter Nell, head of the London dairies, will be free in May. This all was a shock to Mike, who told me only a few days ago that Susan would meet him here.

Vince Edwards, who practically has become a national idol as Dr. Ben Casey on TV, apparently believes in being loyal to his adopted profession, and I'll tell you why. He's steady dating a doctor's receptionist named Sherry Nelson.

To give you an idea of how popular Vince is with the medical profession, more than 500 student nurses at St. Vincent's Hospital in New York City have had their curfew time extended from 10:30 to 11 p.m., so they can view Dr. Casey's medical experiences.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Bob Marcuzzi, manager of Frankie Avalon and formerly Fabian's good man Friday, is being married April 28 to Pam Burns in New York. He was within days of getting married before, but a matter of religion broke up the plans. Frankie will go to New York for the ceremony.

Dorothy Provine isn't sitting around waiting for Frank Sinatra to call her. She and good-looking Peter Mann have discovered each other and they were a happy twosome at the Luvau.

Speaking of Frank, Ted Allen will travel with Sinatra around the world to photograph Frank's tour for underprivileged children. Joey Bishop has been steadily growing in popularity, both as a TV star and as a nightclub entertainer. NBC picked up Joey's option for another year, long before it was time, and next year you'll again see him in a situation comedy, only he'll play a TV entertainer instead of a zany press agent.

A very new twosome at the Kowloon was Gussie Moran, former tennis champ, with actor Mark Stevens. Didn't know he was back in town.

After 30 years of being a top motion picture writer, Charles Lederer has just written his first television script, "Man Can Do," which will be aired on the Alcoa Premiere TV series.

Red Skelton is the proud possessor of a money clip presented to him by the waiters and bus boys at Harrah's Club at Lake Tahoe. They said it was a token of all the extra tips they received because of the jammed house during his engagement.

Joan Fontaine will return here March 13 on her way to Tokyo, where she will be the guest of the Japanese government at a special celebration in honor of her and her sister, Olivia De Havilland, who were born there and attended school there. Joan is on the Celebrity Cruise with cartoonist Charles Addams.

Suit Settled Out Of Court

A friendly suit in connection with an auto accident in which a Lonaconing girl was injured last year has been settled out of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Marlene Joyce Weinbrenner, 17, through her parents, Charles E. and Virginia Weinbrenner, Box 207, Lonaconing, brought the suit against Carson and Daniel Leezer and Robert P. Costa, Box 109, New Eagle, Pa.

On June 20, 1961 the plaintiff was riding in a car owned by Boyd Wilson and operated by Janet R. Wilson north on Pennsylvania Legislative Route 62212 about a half mile from Pennsylvania Route 31.

Costa was headed south on the highway, drove into the other lane of traffic and hit the Wilson car, injuring the plaintiff.

A settlement of $3,000 damages sought in the declaration was reached through Fred Anderson, attorney for the plaintiff, and Hugh A. McMullen, counsel for the defendants.

Washington-Lee Apartments Sold

The Washington-Lee Apartments, 2-12 South Leo Street, have been sold, according to a deed filed for record yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Mrs. Georgia A. Swayne sold the property to Mrs. Minnie F. Bognar, according to the deed. There are about 10 apartments in the building. Mrs. Swayne and her husband, the late Rawley K. Swayne, had owned the property since November 5, 1920.

Sidewalks Here Must Be Cleared

The Police Department said yesterday the law requires residents to clear sidewalks of snow and ice.

Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney said that since Tuesday's heavy snowfall a number of complaints have been received by the department and several property owners have been notified to make sidewalks passable for pedestrians.

The law requires that sidewalks be cleared of any accumulation within a six-hour period, Gaffney said.

It also applies where sidewalks pass vacant lots. Owners of the vacant lots are solely responsible, Chief Gaffney said.

Meanwhile, City Street Department crews continued removal of snow in various areas at the same time keeping a wary eye on the fine snowfall which began about mid-morning.

Street Superintendent Ray Valentine said crews were at work in the Cedric-Tighman Street section around Allegany High School, on Greene Street from Lee to Baltimore Streets; the right side of Decatur Street between Bedford and Baltimore Avenue; at locations of funeral homes and churches and early yesterday completed snow removal in the downtown business section.

Valentine also pointed out that the heavy snow required the services of six men, a truck and hand-operated plow to clear around city-owned buildings and bridges.

Snow removed is dumped at the old mid-city baseball park which eventually will be usurped by the Cumberland Thruway project. Then the city will have to make arrangements for snow dumping elsewhere, Valentine said.

Street crews also were replenishing chunder barrels at more than 80 locations yesterday and Valentine said residents during liberal use of the abrasives during and after this week's snowfall. Salt boxes are also being filled.

PPG Reports Increase In Quarter Sales

Following an extremely slow first quarter, sales of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company improved in each period of 1961 and totaled $602,722,000 for the year. This compares with sales of $627,965,000 for 1960.

Net earnings were $34,627,000 equivalent to $3.29 per share outstanding following the 2 per cent stock distribution, as compared with $47,631,000 or $4.53 per share for 1960.

Glass division operations were affected favorably in the last quarter of 1961 by increased automotive sales, accounted for both by new business and increased activity among older accounts.

David G. Hill, president, said that continuing progress in cost reduction and production efficiency through process improvements, plant modernization, and research have helped prepare the glass division to weather the additional competition it will surely have to face in the future.

The company's long campaign to obtain more reasonable consideration against imports of glass produced at lower unit cost overseas was continued.

The case was sufficiently compelling to prompt the U. S. Tariff Commission, after finding serious injury, to recommend unanimously to the President of the United States that substantial relief be granted. The results of further studies ordered by the President, which corroborate earlier findings, have been returned to the White House, and early Presidential action is anticipated.

The company's long campaign to obtain more reasonable consideration against imports of glass produced at lower unit cost overseas was continued.

A&P Clerks Win 25-Cent Wage Boost

Local 886 of the Retail Clerks Union has ratified a new contract with the local outlets of the A&P Food Stores, according to Don Jene Bucy, president.

Bucy said the ratification meeting was held at the Allegany Labor Temple, with 116 of the some 250-member local participating. The new contract was ratified by a vote of 75 for and 35 against, with six abstentions.

The local's negotiating committee and A&P management reached agreement at a meeting late last week. The new contract provides for a 25 cents an hour wage increase across the board, Bucy said.

Incorporated in the contract is the A&P's new profit sharing plan whereby an employee may invest four per cent of his base salary, with the company matching it with 25 per cent, for investment in government bonds or A&P stock.

Other stipulations provide the 120-day family plan coverage with Blue Cross and Blue Shield; two weeks vacation after three years of service, three weeks of vacation after eight years, and four weeks after 20 years.

Bucy said the agreement will bring the community an additional $136,000 in purchasing power for the next two years, the period covered by the contract.

Brazil And The Alliance

Falsity of Brazilian charges that the United States threatens to withhold Alliance for Progress funds as retribution for seizure of private American telephone properties has been exposed by a Senate Foreign Relations Committee report. Many Americans are convinced that is what Washington should have done.

But the fact is the administration for some time has believed the Brazilian government incapable of putting large-scale aid to effective use. Indeed, says the senators' report, such assistance may intensify present dangerous trends in Brazil.

The principal danger is inflation. Austerity programs have been formulated, but not applied. Prices soar, unchecked either by the law of supply and demand or government decree. As a result, the cost of living rose 43 per cent in a year.

The Cabinet's proposed service is a 40 per cent increase in civil service pay and some mathematical sleight-of-hand whereby U. S. assistance funds would be applied to items normally covered in the domestic budget.

It is this addiction to expediency that arouses fears Alliance funds may provide only temporary relief, while intensifying inflationary pressures.

If their congress continues to abdicate its responsibility, there isn't much the Alliance for Progress can do for the Brazilian people.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The State Department

Stewart Alsop has performed a solid service by writing an informative article on the State Department which was published in "The Saturday Evening Post."

The State Department has always been attacked for its own sins and for those of others in the government and I must admit that I have done as much complaining as anyone. In the Cuban situation it was clear to me that two Presidents, two Secretaries of State and at least one Under-Secretary were not properly and adequately informed, by their subordinates, as to what was going on. During the 1945-1948 period, it was clear that the top officials of our country were babes in the woods concerning China and much of what they then said has by now been proved to be untrue. It was an unfortunate situation but it then indicated that the machinery for gathering, evaluating and moving information forward was faulty.

Stewart Alsop is more objective in his analysis than most of us have been. He has discussed this matter with the present Secretary of State and with two previous ones and has come up with these conclusions:

"First, there are too many people in (the State Department).

"Second, partly for this reason, the department produces too many 'waffle papers' . . . and too few clear, clean and rapid policy decisions.

"Third, partly because there are so many people producing so many waffle papers, nobody except the drones—has enough time to think.

"Fourth, for understandable reasons, the career Foreign Service tends to put a greater premium on avoiding mistakes than on bold and original thinking about foreign policy.

"Fifth, our ambassadors abroad do not have enough independent authority and prestige. As one ambassador remarked to me in Africa, 'I have to ask Washington for permission every time I want to go to the bathroom.'

"Sixth, too many departments and agencies have got into the foreign-policy act, thus weakening the State Department's authority."

All of this is absolutely correct, but can it be cured? The difficulties are insuperable. The excessive staff and the deadwood in the State Department are there because under the Foreign Service Act and the Civil Service Act and the Veterans Acts it is practically impossible to fire anybody.

One solution might be to abolish the Department and start all over again. This is, of course, absurd and impossible but even a blizzard has to be cleared away and when men are buried in paper, it does something to clear an opening.

It would seem that every young man who comes in to sit at a desk feels that he is already a great authority, that he has read the literature and the papers and knows the subject as the Secretary of State or even the President cannot. So he is already a policy-maker and he finds other young policy-makers who can together work out policy—which could, as it has done about both China and Cuba, plague the nation for decades.

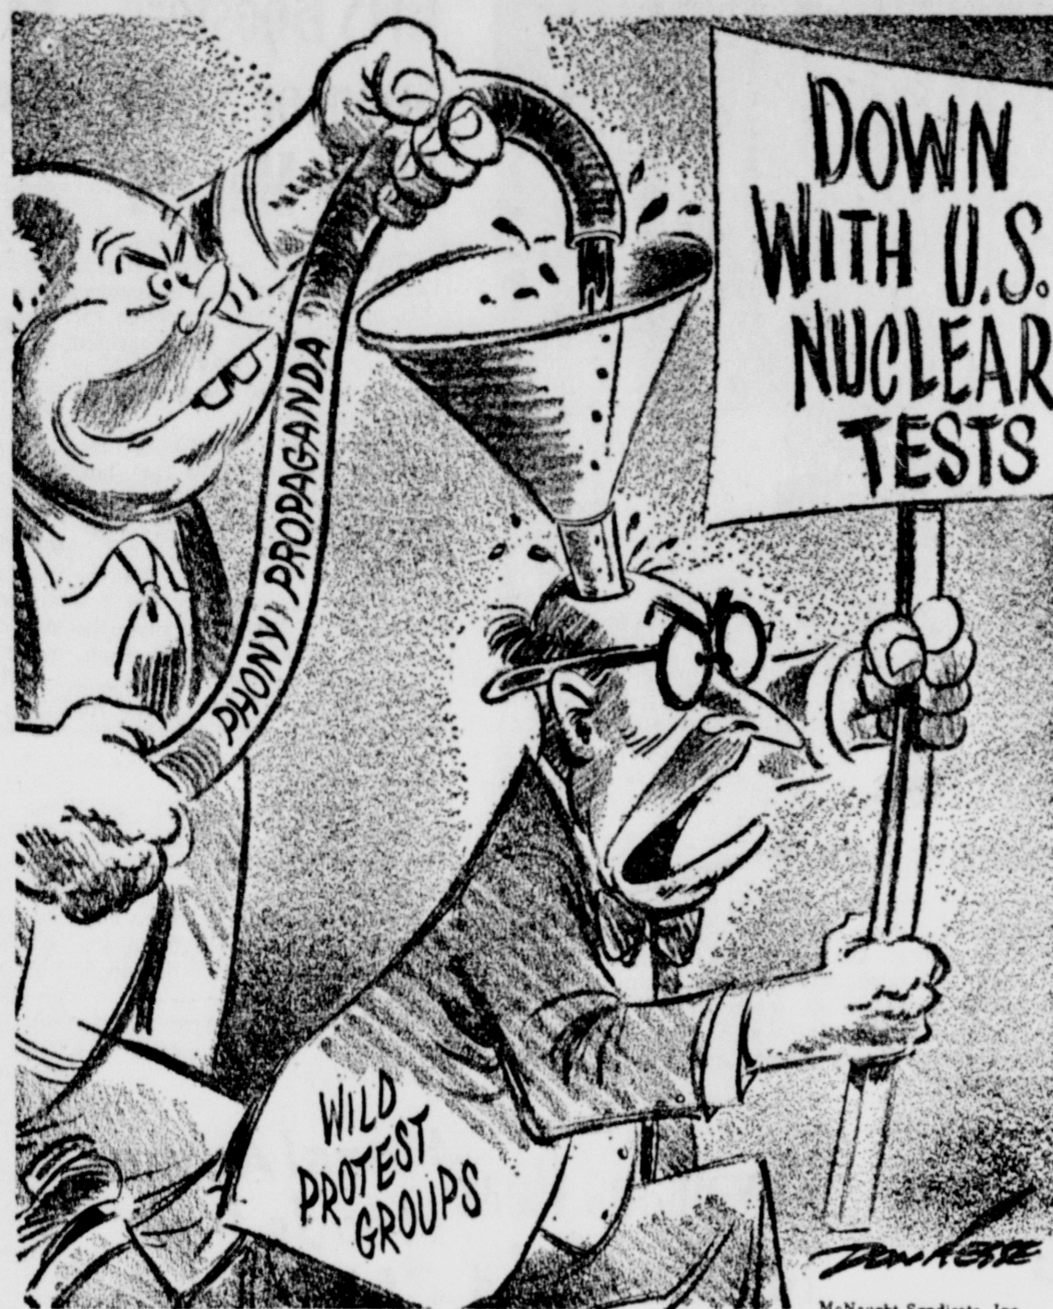

They remind me of a business man who was touring the world and whom I met in Shanghai and he was having a good time. Suddenly, he was like one demented. He said that he had built up an enormous business and had a product, the brand name of which was known to all, which was then true; that he had a son whom he had educated in several universities as a chemist; that the reason his product was successful was that he carefully took out of it an ingredient which tended to grow rancid; that his brilliant, trained chemist son had decided that this slow, costly step was inefficient. So he said, the business would be killed. It was.

The fault to which I point is lack of discipline in the State Department. The fellow who hides reports or who delays them should be fired no matter who wants to protect him. The blabber-mouth should be fired. The security risk need not be a Communist; he might be a fellow who gets drunk at parties; he should be fired on charges. If a managerial under-secretary really went after it, he could do much. Competent men would not be frightened and the Department would survive.

There is much more in Alsop's article to discuss and those who are interested would do well to read it.

British Critics Of JFK Are On The Wrong Track

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There's more than meets the eye in the criticism leveled in the British House of Commons at President Kennedy and Secretary of Defense McNamara for allegedly "interfering in Britain's internal affairs."

It seems that both the President and the Secretary of Defense received Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the opposition party in the British Parliament, and gave him the background of current policies on nuclear tests and disarmament. Mr. Gaitskell later made a statement supporting the President's position, and this caused much criticism of the British leader himself by members of the House of Commons. It came from members of the Conservative Party, and there were complaints, too, from Mr. Gaitskell's own party.

The British critics, however, are on the wrong track. If a distinguished visitor like Hugh Gaitskell comes to the United States to learn at firsthand what's going on in international affairs, should the President turn a deaf ear and refuse to receive him?

For many decades it has been the custom, if not the rule, in international relations that the head of a government doesn't have any conferences of a formal nature with representatives of an opposition party in the government of a friendly country. In recent years, however, this has often been ignored. Also, envoys from foreign governments, including British ambassadors, have not hesitated to confer frequently with the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — even though a Democrat — during the years when the White House happened to be occupied by a Republican President.

Theoretically, the Congress, being a co-ordinate branch of the government, might be expected to have direct contact with foreign governments, but under the Constitution the conduct of foreign relations is defined as strictly an executive function. Little by little, however, the foreign diplomats in Washington, including British ambassadors, have departed from the old rule.

The blame, therefore, is not to be placed on the President nor on the Secretary of Defense, but on Mr. Gaitskell himself, for he alone made the decision as to whether he would enter into a discussion with American officials on current policies. It may have been indiscreet for him to do so from a British viewpoint, but the President is hardly to be blamed for trying to win support in Great Britain when anyone asks for his views.

Inside Washington

VOTING INDEX — A practice has grown up in recent years for some labor, management and farm organizations to compile an index of voting by members of Congress on legislation in which they have a particular interest. A congressman voting favorably on these measures is given a high index figure; one voting against gets a low index, the implication being that they are either "good" or "bad" representatives.

Currently, congressional mail is loaded with an expensively-bound pamphlet from the Conservative Society of America, a far-right organization, containing its own version of a voting index for the legislators.

Only members of Congress receiving a 100 per cent score are Sens. Strom Thurmond, South Carolina Democrat, and John Tower, Texas Republican, and Reps. Clare Hoffman, R-Mich.; James B. Utt, R-Calif.; Clarence E. Kilburn, R-N. Y.; Elmer J. Hoffmann, R-Ill.; and Bruce Alger, R-Tex.

Congress' two known members of the John Birch Society, Reps. Edgar Hiestand and John Rousset, both of California, scored 95 and 89, respectively.

Rep. Howard Smith, of Virginia, generally regarded as a leading conservative, was rated at 58. Rep. Francis E. Walter, chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, scored a round zero.

POSTAGE STAMP — Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., has introduced a bill in the Senate authorizing the Postmaster General to issue a new postage stamp honoring the three living former Presidents, Herbert Hoover, Harry Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Magnuson was asked where the scrappy Missourian would be on the stamp if his legislation is approved. "He'd be right in the middle of it, like he's always been," snapped the Senator. Chances are good that the bill will be issued.

Seek Drug To Correct Cause Of Hypertension

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There are many excellent drugs on the market that lower blood pressure but none that corrects the basic cause of primary hypertension. In this respect, we are still at a stage comparable to the way fever was treated 25 years ago. Drugs that lowered temperature were available but nothing like penicillin to kill the causative germs. Despite these drawbacks, we are fortunate in having hypertensive agents that relieve symptoms and lower the reading.

The nervous system and the blood pressure appear to be related. Any nervous stimulation will raise the pressure a few points. But the person with primary hypertension has a rise of 10 to 20 points. Constant stress keeps the reading higher than normal levels. No one knows why some men and women are hypertensives.

Anything that tends to quiet and relax this group helps decrease blood pressure. This varies from making adjustments in working to the use of sedatives or tranquilizers. The more severe and progressive forms of hypertension are treated with strong drugs that depress or deaden the sympathetic nervous system.

There also is a chemical aspect to blood pressure because elevated readings can be lowered by the use of diuretic drugs. These products encourage the kidneys to eliminate more salt and, in so doing, reduce the amount of fluid in the tissues of the body. Salt, per se, does not raise blood pressure but seems to aggravate the condition when it exists.

Many physicians believe that only certain types of hypertension need treatment. The list includes persons with a severe and progressive condition in which the diastolic pressure is above 120 to 140 mm. Hypertension in young men also is serious and calls for attention.

There is a question whether treatment alters the outcome of the remaining hypertension, even though the pressure reading is lowered. After all, the level of the blood pressure is not always a good indication of what is going on. It is what hypertension along this line is less troublesome to women and older persons. They often live a long life despite the pressure.

Former Investigators Of Teamsters To Testify At Jimmy Hoffa Trial

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Hoffa will stage a star studded trial when his case comes up in Federal court next week in Orlando, Fla. He has subpoenaed none other than William Rogers, former Attorney General under Eisenhower, who first brought the case against him; also Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas, head of the Rackets Committee, who first started the investigation of the Teamsters.

Hoffa has had trouble serving a subpoena on both men, but the other day a process-server handed a summons to Sen. McClellan outside his office to cover his expenses for $150, together with a check for $150 to cover his expenses to Orlando.

The Senator from Arkansas accepted both the summons and the check.

"Boy, this is great," he grunted. "I finally got some of this Teamsters money."

Bill Rogers is still on the loose — as far as the Teamsters' process-server is concerned.

Note — What Hoffa's attorneys want to prove is that any evidence against him was obtained by wiretapping. To that end, Malcolm Wilkey, former chief of the Justice Department's Criminal Division, has also been subpoenaed with a subpoena.

Bonanza For Lobbyists

An interesting Congressman from the race-horse country of Kentucky has quietly put through a tax amendment which should bring a record number of lobbyists swarming into Congressional anterooms, the cocktail lounges, and the hotels of Washington. It will also deluge the lobbies of every state capital.

He is John Watts of Nicholasville, Ky., Democrat, and he has induced the Ways and Means Committee to permit lobbying expenses to be deducted from income taxes as a business expense.

This is what the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers, and other big business organizations have been trying to shove through Congress for years. With almost no publicity the other day, Congressman Watts pushed it through the Ways and Means Committee of which he is a member, which means almost certain passage by the full House of Representatives.

Simultaneously, Congressman Watts is one of the key Democrats who have doubts about medical aid for the elderly.

What his lobbying amendment means is that the American people will pay the cost of sending thousands of lobbyists to Washington and to various state capitals. They will even pay the cost of lobbying before municipal councils. The public will pay for the whisks consumed in smoke-filled rooms by many big business firms in Washington and the state capitals, the lush receptions given for Congressmen, and almost everything else which pertains to lobbying.

In Congressman Watts' district, for instance, are located plants of the giant Schenley and National distillers. They sometimes send their lobbyists swarming over the Capital. Under the Watts amendment they can deduct this cost of lobbying and let the other taxpayers pay it.

In Mr. Watts' district also is the Kentucky River Distilling Company owned by Canada Dry. Under the Watts amendment it can send its lobbyists to Washington at practically no expense.

Distilled in Mr. Watts district also are such famous whiskeys as Old Crow, George Stagg, Old Taylor; also the Pepper Distilleries. All will be able to lobby virtually free — thanks to Watts.

No Aid For The Aged

Meanwhile, Congressman Watts is part of a little group of Democrats who could swing the medical aid to the aged bill either for a vote by the full House or by the Ways and Means Committee. So far he has been skeptical.

In the Congressman's district are such horse-heads as constituents as Mrs. Markey, owner of the Calumet Farms which have produced Bull Lea, Whirlaway, Citation, Ponder and Pensive. The Congressman also represents the Riddle Farms run by Elizabeth Daingerfield which produced Man O' War. He represents Sonny Whitney, Arthur Hancock, and Leslie Combs, who breed some of the finest race horses in the USA. Their stables are as well kept and immaculate as many hospitals. Veterinarians are constantly on duty.

Congressman Watts is delighted to support them and the lobbyists who want to lobby, at the taxpayer's expense, in the Nation's Capital. But so far he is not overly interested in the elderly citizens who in their declining years are not able to pay for medical services.

Air Pollution

Harry Davis, lobbyist for the Sun Oil Company and the Pew family, is still blocking confirmation of the Pennsylvania Air Pollution Commission, appointed by Gov. David Lawrence to study and prevent poisoning of the atmosphere.

The five-man commission, first appointed by Lawrence in 1960, still has not been confirmed by the Pennsylvania Senate. The Governor plans to reappoint them again this week or next.

Harry Davis, who carries considerable weight with Pennsylvania legislators, says that he is opposed to the commission because it contains no representatives of the chemical and petroleum industries, also because no members have been appointed from the southeast section of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Davis was reached by this writer and read the list of commissioners appointed by Gov. Lawrence. He was asked specifically whether they were qualified or unqualified and for any comment he might care to make.

The Commissioners are: Dr. H. H. Schrenck of Pittsburgh, managing director of the Hygiene Department of the Mellon Institute, formerly in charge of the health section of the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

W. H. Jukola, with Jones-Laughlin Steel Co., Pittsburgh. Dr. Allen D. Brand of Bethlehem, for 13 years chief hygiene industrial engineer for Bethlehem Steel.

E. M. Parrish of Pittsburgh, general superintendent of power for Duquesne Light.

Elmer Roy Queer, director of the Engineering Experimental Department at Penn State University and formerly in charge of an air pollution team for the Army during the war.

All are Republicans. Mr. Davis said he did not care to comment over the telephone.

Meanwhile, the Public Health Service in Washington reports: "If air pollution continues to increase . . . the over-all effect on the economy, health, and welfare of the people may become a disaster."

Tragedy Of Exile

By John Crosby

LIMA, Peru
You find exiles all over South America. Down here, politics is irreconcilable. When you lose an election, the general rule has been: blow the country before you land in jail or get shot. In Uruguay you find hordes of Argentine refugees. Bolivia once had thousands of Peruvian refugees and now Lima has thousands of Bolivian refugees who cannot return home, probably ever.

It's as if you lost an election in Rhode Island and had to flee to Texas to live. The whole business of exile is so foreign to the nature of someone from an Anglo-Saxon country, where one is taught to get along with one's neighbors of different points of view, that I resolved to have a talk with an exile to find out how it felt.

He was an exile brooding man with lustrous eyes, a Bolivian who would not allow his name to be used because there are still friends and relatives in Bolivia. (Bolivia is a place where they like to hang their politicians on lampposts and there have been times when every other lamppost in La Paz had a politico dangling from it.)

There are roughly 2,000 Bolivians living in Lima, my refugee estimated, and probably 18,000 Bolivians in exile in all, many of them in Argentina and Chile. The great tragedy of exile, my refugee said, is that it drains the country from which the exiles flee of some of its best citizens. My man is a professional man. (Again he asked me not to reveal just which profession, for fear of pinpointing him). Most Bolivian refugees are in Lima and Argentina, he said, are from the professions—doctors, lawyers, teachers, journalists—all people whom Bolivia can ill afford to lose.

Bolivia, of course is in desperate financial straits and one of the principle factors hindering recovery is that so many of its best educated and best trained citizens have had to take to their heels. I asked him if he would return to Bolivia if there were a change in the political climate. He hesitated a long time, then said:

"Probably I would return, if it's not too much longer. But the country has been destroyed to such an extent by the present regime, that the chances of finding work there are dwindling every day." Work is the key problem of all exiles and, while my exile is well connected and has two jobs, others were not so lucky. In most cases exiles have to step down when they flee their country, to a lower standard of living, a cheapening of their talents. Being exiles, they have to sell their services (frequently at a very high price) at marked down prices and can't protect themselves.

"You must understand that a great many South Americans are self-exiles. They didn't have to leave their native countries but, because of the situation in their countries, people exile themselves. Whole families exile themselves.

"This is a serious problem as far as Bolivia is concerned. It has a small population—3,462,000 —many of them illiterate—4,000,000 of them illiterate, to lose its elite teachers, technicians, liberal arts professors, engineers, lawyers, and doctors is a loss of human capital that is almost irreparable. The best doctors and lawyers set up practices elsewhere and then it's hard to get them to come back, as they get deeply rooted. One of the most serious charges against the revolutionary government of Bolivia is that it has depleted the country of its best-qualified men."

The refugees who had the worst problem were ex-army officers. Accustomed to a rather lordly way of life and a pretty high standard of living in their own country, they could find little work except as overseers of construction jobs in their adopted one. Accustomed to giving orders, they had to learn how to take them and they suffered the worst psychologically, my refugee said. "Psychologically, it's pretty hard on all of us. You feel terribly depressed in exile. You feel everyone is against you. There are terrible frustrations. Then there are the memories of home. You cannot uproot those. Man does not live by bread alone."

With the growing liberalization of Latin American politics the exile problem is diminishing slowly. Bad as it is in Bolivia, conditions are even worse in Paraguay and Bolivia is full of Paraguayan refugees — probably 50,000 of them.

Moorefield Lions Get Full Report On 4-H Activities

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Dave Quinn, Morgantown, entomologist and plant pathologist with the Extension Division of West Virginia University and author of a 4-H project circular, spoke to the Moorefield Lions Club at Hotel McNeill on entomology and 4-H work. The meeting was devoted to a 4-H Club program in observance of National 4-H Club Week.

Miss Phyllis Wilkins, Mathias, and Miss Bernadette Halterman, Moorefield, were originally scheduled to speak on 4-H Club work but the heavy snow storm prevented the girls from attending the meeting. Quinn, who had managed to drive through the storm from Morgantown readily accepted the program assignment.

Quinn explained that insect and bug collections are of practical use for 4-H youngsters as there is a four year program for the project. Quinn said the first year club members learn the order of the insects, the second year the members learn where the insects live, the third year they learn the life cycle and the fourth year, control of the insects.

Quinn answered questions in a question and answer session and said the most recent insect nuisance is the face fly which first appeared in West Virginia in 1960. He said entomologists are working on a spray which would be effective for a month to six weeks instead of the present one week.

Howard Hardy, 4-H Club agent for Hardy County made a short resume of the history of 4-H and said that West Virginia was one of the first states with a program and had been a leader in the work since 1900. He said 4-H now has two and one-half million members with 34,000 in West Virginia and 460 in Hardy County. He said 4-H is now in 50 other nations. West Virginia had the first county 4-H camp and the first state 4-H camp.

County Agent William L. Clark named some of the projects carried on by 4-H members and enumerated handicrafts, livestock, poultry, sewing, home and farm wiring, automotive and machinery and the judging contest programs. Clark said that Hardy County participated in four of the judging programs, land judging, vegetable judging, livestock judging and poultry judging. Two other judging contest programs were not entered by Hardy County. Clark said that two camps are held in the county each year with attendance of 200 at each, one for younger members and one for older members.

Wendell Hester reported on the status of the Valley TV Cooperative, a project sponsored by the Lions Club. Hester reported that continued operation is assured for the community service.

The program announced for the March 19 meeting includes Dean Ernest J. Nesius of the College of Agriculture, Forestry and Home Economics at West Virginia University; Donald J. Baker, president of the West Virginia Poultry Association and Roger Parish, manager of the Moorefield plant of the Rockingham Poultry Marketing Cooperative. The subject for the program will be "The Future of the Broiler Business in West Virginia."

Paul Thompson Is Appointed Head Football Coach At LaSalle

Former GWU End Succeeds Jim Manges

Frostburg Resident Is Beall Grad, Won D.D. Award For 1956

Appointment of Paul "Bubbles" Thompson, 26, of Frostburg, former Beall High School athlete, and outstanding football player at George Washington University from 1954 through 1956, as head football coach at LaSalle High School for the 1962 season, was announced last evening by Brother G. Thomas, athletic director. Thompson replaces James W. Manges, who served as head coach of the Explorers for the past two years. Manges resigned recently because the hours of his new employment would not enable him to continue his coaching duties at the Christian Brothers school.

Earned 3 Letters At G.W.U.

A graduate of Beall High School where he played basketball and football and was chosen on the Jaycees' all-county grid team of 1952, Thompson was a three letterman in football for G.W.U. under Coach Eugene "Bo" Sherman. As an end, "Bubbles" was a top pass receiver for the Colonials, was named to the all-Southern Conference team twice and with Claude Austin, fullback, co-captained George Washington's 1956 eleven which won seven, lost one and played one tie game. The three teams that Thompson played on in his sophomore, junior and senior years won 13, lost 12 and played two ties.

In the Sun Bowl game on New Year's Day in 1957, Thompson caught a pass and scored his team's first touchdown in G.W.U.'s 13-0 victory over a favored Texas Western eleven.

1956 Dapper Dan Winner

One month later, Paul received the Dapper Dan Award at the K. of C. Home for being the athlete who did most to publicize this area nationally during the year 1956. "Bubbles," incidentally, was the first athlete outside of Cumberland to earn the plaque that is awarded annually by the Dapper Dams.

Thompson, a native of Midland, is employed at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Last summer he pitched in the Twilight Baseball League and posted a 7-3 record for the Klondyke Colts. Last year he played in the City Basketball League.

Paul is a 6-footer and tips the beam around the 200 mark.

Over the past two years LaSalle has won 11 games and lost 9 under Coach Manges, one-time Fort Hill High School all-around athlete. Fred Corbin and Dick Bittner were Manges' assistants.

Thompson's assistants are yet to be named.

LaSalle has lined up seven games for its 1962 schedule and is hopeful of adding three more. The open dates are September 21, October 12 and November 2, 9 and 16. Any schools in the area interested are advised to contact Brother G. Thomas at LaSalle High School.

35th Year For Football

The 1962 season will be the 35th consecutive year for football at LaSalle High School. Arthur O'Connor, of Keyser, was the Explorers' first coach in 1928. Others that followed were:

Villanova Outlasts LaSalle, 75 To 67

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—NCAA-bound Villanova outlasted LaSalle, 75-67, Friday night in the opener of a college basketball doubleheader at the Palestra.

Wally Jones finished with 20 points to lead Villanova while teammate Hubie White added 18. LaSalle's Bob McAtreer was the game's high scorer with 25 tallies.

Lucas Ends Cage Career This Year

COLUMBUS (UPI)—Ohio State's Jerry Lucas said again Friday night he is through playing basketball when the current college season ends.

"I'll be back in school next year," he said. "I've got a couple more quarters of school work to get my bachelor's degree."

Lucas said he knew he wanted to continue in school and while he had thought about getting a law degree he was leaning toward a masters degree in business administration.

Lucas said that his plans not to play basketball ruled out playing amateur basketball as well as professional.

NEW COACH IS CONGRATULATED—Brother G. Thomas, athletic director at LaSalle High School, is shown congratulating Paul "Bubbles" Thompson, 26, of Frostburg, following the latter's appointment as head football coach of the Explorers yesterday. Thompson, former George Washington University end and 1956 co-captain of the Colonials, replaces James W. Manges who resigned after guiding the destinies of LaSalle eleven for the past two years. A native of Midland, Thompson is a graduate of Beall High School and is now employed at Allegany Ballistics Lab. He won the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club's award for his performances on the gridiron at G.W.U. in 1956, his senior year.

COLLEGE PARK (AP)—Montgomery-Blair, Walkersville, North Carolina and Crisfield posted victories in the semi-finals Friday night and advanced to the finals of the Maryland High School Basketball Tournament Saturday.

Montgomery-Blair, the only 1961 champion returning to this year's state tournament, trounced South Hagerstown 87-58 in the last of eight semi-finals games in four divisions.

Blair's victory entitles the Blazers to meet Bladensburg, champion of neighboring Prince Georges County, in the Class AA championship game Saturday night.

The Blazers broke Montgomery-Blair's school scoring record with the 87-point output against the South Hagerstown Rebels. The previous high was 85 points against Northwood in the final game of the regular season in 1961.

Watch This One -- 5 Jake Gibbs Is Sure Of Job With Yankees Now -- Or Soon

By WALTER L. JOHNS Central Press Sports Editor

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla.

The Yankees gave him a big hunk of dough ($100,000) and the fans in the minors gave him the business, but Jerry (Jake) Gibbs is going all out to make good as a big league ball player.

Jake, the former All-America quarterback at Mississippi and a third base candidate, is being given a real shot at the Yankee camp here to make the traveling squad. A fine all-around athlete, he is tagged as a definite varsity boy, whether now or in the future.

Jake did a fine job in his first season as a pro last year, hitting .270 in 106 games with Richmond. For the first three weeks he batted over .400 and made a spectacular start by getting five hits in seven trips to the plate in his first appearance, in a doubleheader.

Because of his glamor buildup and the big cash bonus, Jake had to keep cotton in his ears last year.

They called him "Johnny Yuma" and the "Rebel" and in Syracuse they dared him to play football behind the "Sizable Seven," the famed Syracuse line, while needing him about whether he had his money belt tied on tight.

"They all didn't bother me," says Jake in his southern drawl, "ah been getting that for years."

Son of a timber buyer in Grenada, Miss., Jake was a high school star, won both baseball and football scholarships to Mississippi and hit over .400 twice with the Ole Miss team.

Many clubs sought his services but he signed with the Yanks because "Ah wanted to go with a

Joey Giambra Fights Salim

Argentine Boxer Is 2-1 Favorite

By JACK CUDDY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lanky Farid Salim, middleweight champion of Argentina, re-starts his United States campaign for a shot at the world title Saturday night in a 10-round television fight with substitute Joey Giambra at St. Nicholas Arena.

Giambra, a stylish but timid boxer-puncher from Buffalo, N. Y., is substituting for contender Yama Bahama of the British West Indies, who won a split decision over Salim in Salim's second and latest U.S. fight last Nov. 25 at Madison Square Garden.

Busy Bahama had to withdraw from Saturday's return bout with Salim because of a brush with influenza.

The nationally televised (ABC) fight is being staged at Little St. Nick's because of a collegiate track meet at the Garden.

Coincidentally, Bahama brought disappointment to both Salim and Giambra last year. He tagged Salim with the second defeat of his career in November, after having broken Giambra's winning string at 11 straight on May 6 with a unanimous decision in St. Nick's.

Because 25-year-old Salim was more impressive against Yama than 30-year-old Giambra was, the South American is favored at 2-1.

Four Sunday School League Semi-Finals Slated Today At "Y"

The semi-final round of the American and National division play-offs of the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League is slated this afternoon on the "Y" court with the first of four contests set for 1 o'clock.

Two games are scheduled in each division with Trinity Methodist and Emmanuel Methodist of the National circuit kicking off the playoff action at 1 o'clock.

The opener will be followed by an American Division tilt between Emmanuel Episcopal and Melvin Methodist at 2 p.m. The 3 o'clock clash pits First EUB against Grace Baptist in the National league with St. Luke's Lutheran and St. John's Lutheran battling it out for American Division honors at 4 p.m.

Winners of today's semi-final action will vie for division playoff championships next Saturday at the YMCA.

Emmanuel Episcopal's American Division winners gained the semi-final round by turning back Centre Street Methodist last week, 46-29. Melvin earned the right to meet Episcopal by beating First Presbyterian, 39-29. Of the other semi-finalists, St. Luke's beat St. Matthew's, 27-18 and St. John's downed Potomac Park, 46-29.

The National Division regular season champions, Trinity Methodist, scored a quarter-final victory over Salvation Army, 34-24, while Emmanuel Methodist advanced by whipping First Methodist, 45-28.

First EUB's National loop runners-up scored over Zion Reformed, 45-24, while Grace Baptist edged First Baptist, 30-27, in the opening round.

Irish Open Drills St. Patrick's Day

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Notre Dame this year will return to a traditional day, St. Patrick's Day, for the opening of spring football practice, it was announced Friday.

Coach Joe Kuharich said the squad would include about 110 candidates.

For many years Notre Dame opened a six week spring training period on March 17, but when the NCAA imposed a 20 day limit on the session, the practices began later.

Yankees Will Enter 1962 Campaign With The Same Team That Won 'Em League, World Championships Hands Down

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league teams. Others will follow on this page daily.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — It's nice to be a Yankee and it's nicer than ever this year.

The world's champs did well in the money market, picked up a lot of loot at the banquet table and generally enjoyed a fine winter.

Spring training is as nice as you can get it here, for the Yanks are working at the new $700,000 Fort Lauderdale stadium, living in a nice motel near the beach and they're applauded by the fans who pack the place each day and already have closed the windows on exhibition game tickets.

Mickey Mantle smiles when he whiffs in the batting cage, Roger Maris has gone into a shell and manager Ralph Houk is as affable as ever and will talk to you at length about his solid ball club and the black bass he caught fishing here in Florida weeks ago.

Most everybody expects the Yankees to repeat.

It will be the same ball club with the exceptions of Tony Kubek at shortstop, for Tony is in the service but there is classy young talent on hand to fill in. And, if the hopefuls fail to make it, Houk can shift Old Glue-Fingers, Cletus Boyer, from third to short and maneuver someone else into that hot corner spot.

"We know we're going to have a lot of competition," says Houk. "Several clubs have reshuffled their lineups. Detroit definitely is going to be rough. We've got to solve the shortstop problem here and of course every manager wants more pitching."

"We are fortunate in having two young shortstops who had exceptional years in the minors. Like Tom Tresh and Phil Linz. They haven't done anything yet to impress me that much but they haven't impressed me either."

Tresh, son of the old White Sox catcher, hit .315 for Richmond and was an All-Star choice. Linz had a .349 bat mark at Amarillo and reports on him are high.

If they don't make it, Boyer may wind up at short and Billy Gardner will take over third. Also working at third with a definite future major league tag is the former Mississippi All-American footballer, Jake Gibbs, who signed last summer for $100,000 and hit .270 for Richmond.

The Yank pitching staff is good with Bob Turley a question mark although the bone chip operation was a success and he's throwing well in camp. Robin Roberts, the old Philly star, also is on deck and he, too, remains a question mark for Houk at this stage.

Young Hurlers Good

"I've always kept all my pitching jobs open," said Houk. "I feel that our staff this year should be better and we have some fine young throwers like Jim Bouton, Harold Stowe, Frank Carpin and Bob Lasko. When they're ready we don't know but we've given them a real look."

Bouton was 13-7 at Amarillo, Stowe 14-1 at Amarillo, Carpin 7-9 at Richmond and Lasko 11-4 at Amarillo.

Houk had John Blanchard, the rookie star last year, at the early camp and worked him at first and in the outfield. "But he's going to be a catcher," said Houk.

A fine future prospect behind the plate is Billy Madden, a 19-year-old who hit 15 homers in 89 games for Auburn last year. Good old Yogi Berra will patrol the outfield and the Mantle-Maris combine will be aiming at the walls again.

It's tough to break into the lineup of this club but other young players with a real future are Joe Pepitone, a bonus boy who did very well at Amarillo last year; Mike Hegan, son of Yankee coach Jim, and Charlie Keller, III, son of King Kong, who hit .349 for Binghamton last year.

Pepitone is an outfielder but can play first base "real well" according to Houk. Hegan is a first baseman and Keller is an infielder.

Any discussion of the Yankees brings up the Roger Maris story again and whether he will hit as well.

"Naturally," says Houk, "no one can answer that. He's a terrific hitter. And a lot of people forget what a good outfielder he is, a very good defensive player."

"Maris doesn't have to hit 61 home runs to be a very good ball player. I read a lot about how they're going to pitch to him. They did that last year, too, and he still hit 'em. I'm certainly not going to fool with the style of a man who hits 61 home runs."

Reshuffled Pitchers
The Yankees took over the American League lead last July 25 and never relinquished it. The real key to the success of the club, not counting the run-making of Maris and Mantle, was when Houk reshuffled his pitching staff.

"It was sometime in late June," Houk explains. "We made a deal for Bud Daley and Bill Stafford and Larry Terry took over for Turley. That was the key to our pennant victory."

Directors To Decide Carl Made 40 In Row

Marty Flynn Writes Hinze Will Resign

By C. V. BURNS

THE FUTURE of thoroughbred racing at Fargo will be determined when the Cumberland Fair Association directors hold their annual dinner meeting at the Cumberland Country Club, Saturday, March 24 at 6:30 p.m.

Cumberland made an effort to transfer its dates to Timonium this year but the State Legislature said no and now the local association must decide whether it will continue to sponsor racing or toss in the sponge.

THE DEATH of George Mogridge, 72, of Rochester, N. Y., the other day, brought back memories of the seventh game of the 1924 world series at Washington between the New York Giants and Senators.

Mogridge, a veteran lefthander, pitched two games in that series, won the fourth, 7-4, which Fred "Fipps" Marberry finished, and also started the 7th and was relieved by Marberry.

The Senators won the seventh game and the series on McNeely's grounder, which struck a pebble or some object and bounced over third baseman Freddie Lindstrom's head, allowing Muddy Ruel to score from second base with the deciding run.

Clarence Lippel and Harry Beneman were among the local fans who were in Griffith Stadium that cold afternoon in October.

MARTY FLYNN, the retired PPG salesman, and one-time leader of the Society Ramblers Orchestra, writes from St. Petersburg, Fla., as follows:

"Enclosed is a clipping from St. Petersburg Times about Frank Thomas. Thought you would like it."

"This town has gone nuts over Casey Stengel and the Mets. I see them and the Cardinals work out every day."

"We have been here all winter and like it very much."

Marty's athletic career dates back to 1915 when he was the youngest basketball player on "Mac" McKenty's Lonaconing Champs. Baseball, however, was his favorite sport and he was a classy shortstop (like his brother, Owen "Skinner" Flynn) until a broken leg he suffered while sliding in a game at Barton back in the 1920s cut short his diamond career.

IN HIS BOOK, "Casey At The Bat," Mr. Stengel says he made one of his biggest mistakes when he played with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

He wrote the following note to Charlie Ebbets, owner of the Dodgers:

"Received the contract but knew it wasn't mine when I saw the figures. You must have sent me Red Monahan's contract by mistake."

Red was the Brooklyn batboy. Casey hit only 257 that season so it ended with his being traded along with George Cutshaw to Pittsburgh for Burleigh Grimes, Al Mamaux and Chuck Ward.

THERE WAS quite a bit of publicity given Ron Warner, Gettysburg College basketball player, several weeks ago when he sank 22 out of 22 free throws as his team lost to Philadelphia St. Joseph's, 80-79, in double overtime. It was mentioned as being a national record.

But did you know that Carl Hartman, of Ridgeley, posted a 23 out of 23 performance in one game in 1954 while playing for Alderson - Broadbent College and ran his string to 40 before finally missing?

Eight years ago when Hartman transferred in a 4-year career total of 2,544 points, bettering Frank Selvy's national record of 2,538, it was not recognized by the NCAA because some of Hartman's games were against two-year colleges.

Perhaps that's why you don't see Carl's foul shooting performances of 1954 mentioned.

H. FRANK HINZE, proprietor of the Toy Shop, will resign as secretary-treasurer of the Hot Stove Baseball League when that circuit meets next Wednesday night at City Hall.

Hinze, who has been associated with the league for seven years, finds that he is unable to devote the time to his secretarial duties and run his business too, and he feels that it is time to step down.

Frank plans to continue as secretary of the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club.

Kopfle, Fulk Get Mountain Conference Honorable Mention

Bill Kopfle and William Fulk of Bayard High School were among a number of cagers who received honorable mention to the all-Mountain Conference basketball team for the past season.

Nine players were selected by the coaches to the first team. They are Jack Ross of Coalton, named captain by virtue of receiving the most votes; Mick Cooper of Harman; David Miller, Tunnelton; Pete Barmer, Mountaineer; Jack Baker, Belington; David Daniels, Beverly; Gene Silcott, Newburg; Delis Martin, Tunnelton; and Bill Iseli, Beverly.

Honorable mention went to Danny Burgess, Pickens; Gary Shay, Fellowship; Francis Martin, Tunnelton; and Ronnie Sharps of Newburg, in addition to Kopfle and Fulk.

The all-conference players will be guests of the league at its spring dinner where they will be awarded gold medals in recognition of their selection.

Bud Taylor, 58, Taken By Death

Won NBA Bantam Title In 1927

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Onetime bantamweight champion Bud Taylor, 58, died Friday in French Hospital, where he was under treatment for a heart condition.

The ex-boxer was hospitalized after suffering a heart attack Thursday.

Taylor, known as the "Terre Haute Terror" in the 1920s and early 1930s, captured the National Boxing Association version of the bantamweight crown with a 10-round victory over Tony Canzoneri in Chicago on June 24, 1927.

In recent years Taylor had worked as a public relations man for a freight-loading firm.

Born in Terre Haute, Ind., he was christened Charles B. Taylor. He held the title 14 months, vacating it in August of 1928 and retired in 1931.

Olivares Injured

APACHE JUNCTION, Ariz. (AP)—The National League Houston Colts have lost Eddie Olivares, a $50,000 infielder, for five weeks.

Olivares received a severe ankle sprain Thursday while sliding into second base in an intrasquad game.

The 23-year-old Puerto Rican had been rated a long shot to break into the starting lineup of the Colts.

New Orleans Derby Draws Classy Field

Axe II, Physician Run At Santa Anita

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The cloudy 3-year-old racehorse situation may clear a bit at the New Orleans Fair Grounds Saturday, where several top campaigners tangle over a mile and an eighth in the 37th renewal of the Louisiana Derby.

Endymion, winner of three of four starts this winter, Roman Line and Admiral's Voyage top the field in the feature, which closes out the Fair Grounds meeting.

Santa Anita will close with the San Juan Capistrano Handicap, at about 1 1/4 miles over the turf course, with Axe II top weighted at 122 pounds in the $100,000-added race, richest of the day's features.

In the Louisiana Derby, which oddly enough has not produced a Kentucky Derby winner for 38 years, Endymion is favorably weighted at 119 pounds, Roman Line will carry top weight of 125.

Admiral's Voyage carries 121. In the San Juan Capistrano Axe II is the likely favorite despite the heavy impost.

Physician, surprise winner of the Santa Anita Handicap, has assigned 120 pounds, same as Onk Olden Times will try the grass course for the first time, carrying 119.

Villanova Top Heavy Favorite In IC4A Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—A record 51 colleges have entered the indoor IC4A Track and Field Championships at Madison Square Garden Saturday night and if Villanova doesn't win the team title it will provide the biggest shocker in the 41 years of the meet.

The powerful Wildcats from Philadelphia won the crown in 1957-58-60 but were dethroned by Yale last year, 30-29.

Yale is back this year but Coach Bob Giegegack says, "We don't have a chance."

The Villanova legends are led by Frank Budd and Paul Drayton, sure scorers in the 60-yard dash, and Billy Joe and Gerry Donini, probably will be 2-3 in the shot put.

Michigan State and Notre Dame, which don't often run in the IC4A championship, both will have strong delegations. The Spartans won the title in 1949 and 1950.

Standings Of Rec Basketball Teams

Another change was noted with Brock's Scrappers being entered in the 135-pound division also. The tournament will get underway Monday and will continue through the finals on March 22.

Integration Bill Dies In House Battle

60 Of 122 Votes Are Mustered

By GEORGE BOWEN
ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland House of Delegates, after an hour's emotion-charged exchange, failed Friday night by two votes to pass a bill to force hotels and restaurants to serve Negroes.

The bill mustered only 60 votes out of 122 although it would have required equal accommodations in but eight of the 23 counties and Baltimore City.

Gov. Tawes had called the legislature into session for the special purpose of enacting a law to compel an end to segregation for those Maryland jurisdictions desiring it.

Some Abstain

But a majority of delegates from even those 15 counties which were exempted either voted against the principle or abstained.

Even 15 of the 36 Baltimore City delegates voted against compulsory service to Negroes and one was absent.

The wholesale exemption of counties was used as a reason by some delegates for voting against the bill.

Were Excluded

Pointed out particularly was the exclusion of Cecil and Harford counties from application of the proposed law. U.S. 40 runs through them and Gov. Tawes had said he particularly wanted this corridor cleared of segregation.

Integrationists, supported by the administration of President Kennedy, had started a drive against discrimination on Route 40 several months ago. The highway northeast of Baltimore to the Delaware line is a link in the main route traveled between New York and Washington by distinguished foreign Negro visitors.

Tawes Speaks

Tawes, in his closing message, said it was his judgment to call the special session because "it is my constitutional responsibility under extraordinary situations . . . to meet the demands of the occasion."

He said it was his judgment that such a condition existed.

"In your judgment, as the legislative representatives of the people, you saw fit to reject this legislation."

The public accommodations bill was one of 42 introduced at the special session. The overwhelming majority were local in nature and 32 were enacted.

Among those which passed the House but failed in the Senate were two to curb protest demonstrations against restaurant discrimination.

One would have raised the maximum penalty for trespassing from $100 to $1,000 plus one year in prison. The other was to prohibit picketing of segregated restaurants by children under 16.

The Senate also let die a bill to create a three-man commission for harness racing.

American Stores Lease Space At White Oaks

American Stores Company, a Delaware corporation with offices at 124 North 15th Street, Philadelphia, Pa., has entered into a lease agreement for store space at the proposed White Oaks Shopping Center, Inc., off Oldtown Road near the city limits.

The grocery chain has signed a 15-year lease with White Oaks Shopping Center Inc. Although the lease was dated last October, it was just filed for record yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The lease runs for a 15-year term beginning July 1, 1962, and the American Stores have the option of five five-year renewals, or a total of 40 years.

Tall Cedars Plan Dance

Algonquin Forest 140, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, will sponsor a dance on Friday, March 16, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Dancing will be from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m. with music by the Modernaires.

The dance is open to the public with proceeds going to the Cedars muscular dystrophy fund. Tickets may be obtained from any Tall Cedar, at the Shrine Country Club or by calling PA 2-2031.

Holy Name Plans Meeting Tomorrow

The Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Church will receive communion in a body tomorrow during the 7 a.m. Mass.

After Mass, the members will hold a business meeting in the social center of the school. The annual breakfast which this year will be held May 13 will be discussed, said John Allen president.

Other officers installed at a recent meeting include Leo Costello, vice president; James Reinhart, secretary; and Frank Werner, treasurer.

Sculptured Snowman

This huge snowman which attracted quite a bit of attention at 946 Bedford Street was sculptured by Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Sears and their two children, Lori, left and Glenna, right. The family took advantage of the abundance of snow which fell in Cumberland this week and came up with the snowman.

FOE Memorial Event Slated Here Sunday

Public Program Begins At 2 P.M.

The 59th annual memorial service of Cumberland Aerie 245, FO Eagles, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. on the first floor of the Aerie home on North Mechanic Street. Forty-two members who died during the past year will be eulogized.

The program, which is open to the public, will begin with the procession being played by Vicki Eackles at the piano.

Invocation will be given by Rev. Stanley C. Harrell, pastor of Central Methodist Church. "Send Forth Thy Spirit" will then be sung by the Allegany High School choir under the direction of Miss Dorothy Willison, vocal music teacher at the school.

The ritual will be given by Alvin C. DeBouck, worthy president; Francis G. Humberton, chaplain; and Lynn E. Tharp, junior past worthy president.

After the benediction by Rev. Arthur W. Bastrass, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, closing remarks will be made by Mr. Myers.

Two Injured In Collision

Two men were injured early yesterday afternoon in a two-car collision at the intersection of Frederick and Decatur streets.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital was Wallace Mauk, 37, of Romney, W. Va. who sustained possible head injuries and was reported in "satisfactory" condition last night.

The other man in the accident, James Richardson, 19, of RD 5, city, was treated at the hospital and released, attaches said.

The two men were reported to have been unconscious when taken to the hospital shortly after 1 p. m. although they regained consciousness after being taken to the dispensary.

It was reported that one vehicle was traveling toward Baltimore Avenue on Decatur Street and the other north on Frederick Street when the accident occurred.

The impact drove the vehicle traveling on Frederick Street into the steps of the Metropolitan AME Church, witnesses said.

Compensation Case Appeal Is Filed

Cumberland Steel Company of Allegany County, 101 Williams Street, the employer, and State Accident Fund, the insurer, yesterday filed an appeal in Allegany County Circuit Court from a recent decision of the Workmen's Compensation Commission.

The appeal contends that the commission made an error in its order of February 14, which ruled that Harry C. Jones, 428 Grand Avenue, had sustained 100 per cent industrial loss of hearing in his left ear.

Commissioners Split Vote On Mobile Homes

Seek To Amend Floor Area Rule

Allegany County's Board of Commissioners, on a split vote, yesterday took the first step to reduce the floor area requirements for mobile homes in residence districts.

Commissioner John J. Rowan moved to initiate the formal action to amend Section 9 of the county's interim zoning ordinance to reduce the amount of floor area required. Section 9, Article C, now provides that the floor area of a mobile home in a residence district shall be no less than 500 square feet.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnam seconded the motion. Commissioner John T. Mason opposed the action, saying that the matter should be left with the County Planning and Zoning Commission.

County Attorney Leslie J. Clark yesterday afternoon was checking into the legal requirements which must be followed in amending the requirement. He is certain that the county commissioners must hold a public hearing on the matter before taking action.

It may be that the County Planning and Zoning Commission itself must first have a public hearing and then submit its recommendation to the county commissioners. Mr. Clark was not certain yesterday whether this would be necessary.

The County Board of Zoning Appeals has scheduled a public hearing for 2 p. m. next Thursday in its first case involving the refusal of C. Lee Renaud, county planning director, to grant a building permit and zoning certificate for a mobile home in a residence district with less than 500 square feet.

Alvy M. Kight had applied for a permit to place a mobile home with 360 square feet on a farm along the east side of Mt. Pleasant Road about one-and-one-quarter miles north of U. S. Route 40.

Mr. Renaud turned down the application because the mobile home was less than 500 square feet, was not to be placed on a lot as required and would have only a temporary foundation.

Assembly Sets Stage For Junior High Site

Garrett Manager Plan Approved

Two Allegany County bills were passed yesterday during the special session of the General Assembly.

One of them authorizes the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to transfer part of the County Farm property to the Allegany County Board of Education for a site for a junior high school.

The other is an enabling act which authorizes the County Commissioners to increase the appropriations to Allegany County volunteer fire companies.

Senate Bill 12, sponsored by Sen. Charles M. See, and the appropriations bill sponsored by the six delegates were agreed upon by the seven legislators following a joint meeting Thursday night.

The property transfer bill was submitted at the request of the County Commissioners.

In last year's Legislature, a bill authorized the County Commissioners to dispose of any part of the County Farm for a hospital. This current bill allows use of a site for a junior high school.

During the 1961 General Assembly, a bill was passed authorizing the issuance of $5,000,000 in school construction bonds and the two major projects scheduled in the program were the building of a northern and southern junior high school, both ostensibly in Cumberland.

One of the sites surveyed for the northern school has been part of the farm. The County Commissioners wanted the bill passed so that there would be no legal delay in the event it was chosen.

The fire company allocation measure was requested of the delegation by the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association through the chairman of its legislative committee, Luther Metz.

In the event the commissioners decide to increase the appropriations, every fire company would get an equal amount. The limit is $500 each with the exception of the Cumberland Hose Company.

In other action at yesterday's special session, a bill was approved to create a county manager in Garrett County. The bill, which was introduced by Sen. Bernard I. Gonder, D-Garrett, authorizes the Garrett County Commissioners to appoint the manager for an indefinite term and also fix the salary.

Local and area residents, weary of the heavy accumulation of snow which fell earlier in the week, last night were hopeful the wet snow which was falling would eventually stop.

Roads in this area were snow covered and slippery in spots and crews of the State Road Commission were out cinderling in efforts to keep traffic moving.

Authorities said the highways, as usual, were in a more hazardous condition west of Cumberland into Garrett County.

There were no serious accidents reported last night. The temperature was around the 30 degree mark in the area.

About an inch of new snow fell in the Frostburg area yesterday and streets in that community were reported slippery.

Oakland reported light snow falling during the day and a noticeable accumulation covered the streets. Up to 30 inches of snow fell in that section of Western Maryland earlier this week. About 28 inches of snow fell in Cumberland.

Possible snow flurries are forecast today in Western Maryland and possible rain is expected in the east portion of the state. Temperatures are expected to range from 36 to 42 degrees in Maryland today.

Secondary road conditions in nearby West Virginia were termed critical yesterday by State Roads officials. W. G. Galloway, district engineer for the SRC said a total of 178 secondary roads were completely closed and residents were unable to get out since Monday.

Galloway said SRC crews have been working day and night since Monday, however, District 7, including Mineral, Grant, Hardy, Hampshire, Morgan, Berkeley and Jefferson counties is still "snowed in."

Kyle Sentenced To Six Months

Mervin H. Kyle, 44, of RFD 4, yesterday was sentenced by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris to six months in the Maryland House of Correction on a charge of violating the probation placed upon him last April 17 in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Last April Kyle was found guilty on three charges of petty larceny and received three one-year terms in the House of Correction, to be served consecutively.

However, he was placed on probation and one of the terms of the probation was that he abstain from the use of intoxicants. State's Attorney James S. Getty, in petitioning the court to take action against Kyle, noted that the man has not abstained from the use of intoxicants.

Kyle first was tried by Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt on February 14, 1961, and was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction. He appealed to Circuit Court.

LaVale Gives Views On City Sewage Plan

Engineers To Study Both Sides Of Issue

The LaVale Sanitary Commission last night expressed its views on several points which were included in a memorandum issued by the City of Cumberland on the sale of sewage treatment services to LaVale.

After hearing the views of the LaVale unit, the Mayor and City Council suggested the LaVale Sanitary Commission put these views in a formal statement which then could be submitted to a consulting firm hired by the city.

Chester A. Fisher, chairman of the LaVale Sanitary Commission, was spokesman for the LaVale group last night and explained how this community felt on several points in the city's memorandum.

The points in question dealt with sharing the cost of the project, where the sewage line would be connected with the city, dumping of industrial waste in LaVale, future users outside the present LaVale area, one contract which would cover both water and sewage service in LaVale and cost of future expansion.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney for the LaVale unit, said he would prepare formal copies of the views presented last night so a study can be made by the city's firm of Robert T. Regester, Baltimore, which designed the Cumberland sewage treatment plant.

After Mr. Regester's firm studies the proposals made by the LaVale unit, the Mayor and Council said they would review the firm's findings and then make a decision in the case.

It also was suggested by both sides at last night's meeting that engineers of the firm of Whitman-Quandt and Associates, consulting engineers of Baltimore, which has been hired by LaVale, meet with engineers of Mr. Regester's firm and review both the city's memorandum and the points which were submitted at last night's meeting.

On November 10, 1961, the LaVale unit notified Cumberland it wished to proceed as rapidly as possible toward a possible agreement with the city on the sale of treatment services.

The city replied with its memorandum on February 12, and last night's meeting was held to hear the LaVale units views on that memorandum.

It was agreed by both sides that they should have the expert opinions by the engineering firm hired by both groups before a final agreement can be decided upon.

Attending the session last night were Mayor J. Edwin Keech, all the council members, City Attorney William R. Carscaden, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum, Lloyd H. Buchanan and William Engle of the LaVale group, Mr. Getty and Mr. Regester.

When wintry weather kept the County Roads Department workers busy all this week attempting to keep roads clear for vehicular traffic, Roy J. Loar, one of the road workers, waived his right for a tour of active duty with C. B. Division 5-7, according to Harry T. Skelly, county road supervisor.

Mr. Loar had been granted leave March 6 for his tour of duty but he decided later to remain at his position with the Roads Department.

The county commissioners yesterday reappointed George H. Hetzel as a temporary clerk in the County Roads Department for another four months. Mr. Skelly had written the commissioners that Mr. Hetzel's four-month appointment ends March 10.

In another action, the commissioners granted a $200 a year pay raise to Mrs. Joan Burke, law librarian at the Court House, Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris and Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey had recommended the increase. Mrs. Burke is not covered by the classified service and did not get the raise granted other county employees several months ago.

Elizabeth Thoeig, a student at Mt. Savage School, has written a letter of thanks to James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, for having sent information about Cumberland and Allegany County for her use in school. Mrs. Mildred Edmunds, clerk in the commissioners' office, had sent the data to the student.

Sunset Strip's Roscoe Man Of Many Talents

When visitors to Hollywood drop into Dino's Restaurant hard by the address made famous by "77 Sunset Strip," the only character out of the popular ABC-TV network show they are almost certain to see is Louis Quinn, who is best known to TV audiences as "Roscoe," the race horse handicapper.

If business seems off or Louis feels restless, he saunters down the hill and perches himself by the fireplace in Dino's. A teetotaler, he will order a lemonade or a glass of gingerale, and, as he puts it, "give the place some atmosphere."

Few persons ever pause to reflect upon the fact that Louis is a man of many talents. He is a skilled master of ceremonies, a disc jockey, a respected TV interviewer, a highly regarded dramatic actor, and an outstanding gag and scenario writer who has won many scripting awards.

As a matter of fact, Louis wrote his way into the "77 Sunset Strip" series when he was asked to doctor a script and was summarily recruited to deliver his own gags.

His ability to turn a funny phrase attracted the attention of Director Bryan Foy, who brought Quinn to Warner Bros. in 1940 as a writer.

Quinn went to work as script

LOUIS QUINN

writer for Orson Wells' Mercury Theatre. New York radio critics named him "best radio writer in America." He also won the Paul Whiteman Award for a Philco Hall of Fame script.

The biggest snow storm of 1950 in New York projected Louis into radio disc jockey work as a replacement. Quinn was so good he was given a two-year contract.

The pudgy comedian broke into television conducting an interview show called "Quinn's Corner" on Los Angeles' KHJ-TV.

As Warner Bros.' goodwill ambassador without it portfolio, Quinn often accompanies other stars for whom he occasionally writes material, and is much sought as master of ceremonies.

As a gag writer for such comics as Milton Berle, Edgar Bergen, Bert Wheeler and Jimmy Durante, Quinn once earned up to $65,000 a year—"far more than I make as an actor," he jests. "But, then, I never had time to wander down to Dino's and ogle the tourists."

Opera Star Opines TV Music-less

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—The best music on television?

It's on commercials, says the Mel's great baritone, Robert Merrill.

"Outside of the occasional Leonard Bernstein concert," Merrill says, "the best music on television is definitely on the commercials. Just last night, I saw one—it was a beer commercial about a golden harvest—and it has the best music I've heard on TV in a long time. There was a full symphony orchestra playing something that sounded like Strauss."

Otherwise, Merrill says, there is very little good music on television.

"And it's a shame," he says, "because there could be more and should be more. The audience is there."

"Whenever I do a Jack Paar show, I get letters from all over the U. S. I get more letters from that show than from any other I've done. Most of the people write to ask me to sing classical songs, things like opera arias. That shows that there is a demand for good music."

Merrill says he would love to host a TV hour of good music. And, in fact, he has an idea for a program which he hasn't yet given up on.

"It would be films of famous places in music," he says, "such as Verdi's birthplace and the first opera house where 'Aida' was ever sung. I'd tell about these places, and then we'd hear examples of appropriate music."

Merrill also believes that what little music there is on TV is spoiled because the sound is not as good as it should be. He feels the public must share the blame for this.

"The average person," he says, "simply doesn't know how to tune the sound in properly."

Elvis Presley's two-year-old chimp, Scatter, is taking etiquette lessons from anthropoids who know — he's the houseguest of the Marquis Chimps, featured on "The Hathaways."

Within a half-hour of arriving in his birthday suit at owner-trainer Gene Detroy's Woodland Hills home, Scatter had had his fill of being stared at by the fashionably dressed trio and frantically donned one of Enoch's spare costumes.
